GC Man Killed By Truck Today

Arthur Davis 66 Dies In Mishap; 5 Hurt As Auto Hits School Bus

Arthur Davis, 66, of 2413 Bromley avenue, was killed when he was struck by a pickup truck at 5:55 a.m. today on East 26th street between Washington and Lee avenues. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

In addition, 13 persons were injured in 17 traffic accidents since Tuesday morning, including five Tuesday afternoon when a school bus was struck by a car on a highway.

The pickup truck in the fatal accident was driven by Gary L. Ellis, 721 Twenty-sixth place. The police report showed Mr. Davis was lying in the center lane 86 feet from the point of impact. The vehicle was 65 feet away and there were 21½ feet of skid marks. No charge was filed.

Geo. W. Reeves to Head Tree of Lights Campaign

George W. Reeves, assistant vice-president of the First Granite City National Bank, was appointed chairman of the 1966 Salvation Army Tree of Lights campaign during a luncheon meeting of the advisory board Wednesday at the Army headquarters.

He succeeds Harry R. Johnson, retired Madison postmaster, to the chairmanship.

The Tree of Lights committee is to meet at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the First Granite City National Bank where setting of a goal is to be set for the year. The drive netted $5533 in addition to canned goods and commodities which raised it to about $6000.

It was decided to hold future board meetings at the S. A. headquarters, which will be served by the S. A. women.

Reeves resides with his wife and two children at 2206 Gary avenue. He has been with the bank since 1957, coming here from Paducah, Ky., where he received his preliminary education. He also attended Notre Dame University, South Bend, Ind., and was a member of the World War II. He is a member of the Granite City Optimist Club and the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce.

Venice Cancels Salary Raises

New Tax Levy Totals $463,136, Up 44%; Rate May Skyrocket

The city of Venice today canceled all salary raises for city employees in the 1966-67 fiscal year. The city council also approved a new tax levy total of $463,136, an increase of $141,654, or 44%, over last year's $321,482.

The new levy includes three questionable items — extensions for the general fund and police and street funds — on the basis of higher tax rates voted upon in the Aug. 30 special referendum. While the vote indicated the rate propositions carried by slim majorities, a question arose over the status of 290 spoiled ballots.

If these ballots are counted, the vote cast, it could change the favorable vote to one of rejection.

Dr. John E. Lee, Venice mayor, said the city council's decision to cancel salary raises was a result of the city's financial situation.

Only Essential Expenditures

In addition, he said, all appropriations for paying expenses to attend conventions have been canceled.

$503,394 Taxes in Granite City are Unpaid

While Granite City's $5,333,131 tax collection was 92.1% of the total tax bill and $420,793 greater than the 1965 collection, an amount of $503,394 remained unpaid, including $69,800 owed by the city's largest firms, the city council said today. The city council also told Tuesday night in a letter to Treasurer-Collector E. R. "Pat" Rich.

Rich said that two city employees owe back taxes amounting to $181, and eight school district employees owe $722 in back taxes. The $69,800 owed by business firms, including $28 in the downtown district, represents both current and back taxes.

The treasurer declined to name any names, but council members assured him proper action would be taken concerning the city employees. Current taxes are not yet delinquent, Rich said.

When asked to forward names to the school district, Rich replied that School Supt. H. D. Johnson had already asked for and received the list of school

Darlene Stout, 14 Months Old, Dies of Pneumonia

Darlene Stout, 14-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arden Stout, 4509 Walter avenue, died at 2:30 a.m. today, at Children's Hospital, St. Louis, where she had been transferred from St. Elizabeth Hospital, at 3:30 p.m. yesterday, after having been successfully revived, following a heart attack.

The infant, who had been ill for three days with pneumonia, was transferred from the local hospital by ambulance equipped with an inhaler unit, which was used enroute to St. Louis.

The ambulance also was accompanied by the Granite City fire department's inhalator truck, serving as a reserve unit on a standby basis.

Besides her parents, the infant, who was born in Granite City, is survived by two brothers, Dennis, eight years, and Gregory, six years; one sister, Kathy, five years; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Landford of Evening Shade, Ark., and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stout of Holly Grove, Ark.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

State Loses Air Pollution Case Filed Against Venice

A complaint filed by the Illinois Air Pollution Board earlier this year, alleging that Venice was guilty of burning at its dump on Highway 3, was dismissed in a circuit court hearing in Granite City yesterday afternoon.

Associate Circuit Judge Fred P. Schuman held that state officials failed to produce sufficient evidence to prove that Venice was guilty of burning at its dump on Highway 3, June 1, 1965. Board

Tax Levy For City of Madison Up $28,954

Slight Tax Rate Boost Is Expected to Cover Levy Total of $263,326

The Madison city council adopted tax levies totaling $263,326, an increase of $28,954, to help finance operations in the 1966-67 fiscal year during a meeting Tuesday night.

A new special tax levy of $10,000 for liability insurance was added to this year's list and is reflected in the increase. The hike also will help pay for salary increases granted this year to all full-time city employees.

The new levies will be extended on the tax records of the city clerk, who will ascertain the new rates by applying the levies against assessed valuations.

The current tax rate of 97.6 cents per $100 assessed valuation is expected to go up slightly, it dropped by several cents last year.

Insurance Levy

Mayor Stephen Maerz said the liability insurance levy will recover some of the funds caused by the reduction of the general corporate purposes tax rate caused by application of the Hodge-Butler act. The new tax levy was authorized by the last year's legislature.

Madison's tax income had been expected to be reduced by $55,000. Liability insurance previously was paid out of general corporate purposes funds.

The levy for general corporate purposes was set at $74,861, compared to $67,236 last year, and special levies totaled $136,375, compared to $119,899 a year ago.

A comparative breakdown of levies, listing the 1966 levies first and the 1965 levies second, follows:

Committee Will Promote Detention Home for County

The county's great need for a juvenile detention home — not a cure to juvenile delinquency, but to help redirect the lives of youngsters — was outlined by James J. Reidberger, chief probation officer, Tuesday evening.

He and William B. Webb Jr., Granite City assistant supervisor and chairman of the county board's Detention Home committee, outlined a program for a

$943,000 Venice School Budget, $744,000 Levy

Adoption of a $943,104 budget for 1966-67 and a $744,000 levy in the budget for 1966 was the principal business conducted Tuesday evening by the Venice board of education.

The new budget is $123,750 higher than last year's figure of $819,454, and the levy is $6184 greater than the 1965 total of $737,846. Salary increases were a major factor in the budget increase.

Venice School Supt. John O. Pier estimated that the new school tax rate for next year's collection will be $2.08, or 11 cents over the $1.968 rate used for this summer's collection.

$94,000 Education Fund Hike

Of the budget's total, $94,373 appears in the education fund, set at $736,285, the 1966 fund was set at $1,618,606, over $200,000 over last year's $1,418,606.

An increase of $6661 was voted in the retirement fund, set at $13,678. The latter increase resulted from revised payment requirements.

Other parts of the new budget, including a comparison with the final 1965-66 budget, consist of the bonds and interest fund, $1,082,597,209; building, 20,98 cents, $75,135; Illinois Municipal Retirement fund, one cent, $350; working cash fund 2.81 cents, $10,000; bonds and interest, 18.45 cents, $66,075; transportation, five cents, $17,780; and junior college, one cent, $350.

1966 Tax Levy Breakdown

A breakdown of the expected new tax rate of $2.08 and the amounts levied are, education, $1,082,597,209; building, 20.98 cents, $75,135; Illinois Municipal Retirement fund, one cent, $350; working cash fund 2.81 cents, $10,000; bonds and interest, 18.45 cents, $66,075; transportation, five cents, $17,780; and junior college, one cent, $350.

The $94,373 total budget figure compares with a $80,513 figure for 1965-66.

The $10,000 working cash fund and $350 junior college allocations were added since last year's $10,000 heating cost item was transferred from the education fund to the building fund.

Needless, Hazardous Jog In State Street at Fehling Road Which City Hopes to Eliminate by Acquiring Added Right-of-Way (Dotted Line) from the School and Park Districts

Concrete work on Nameoki road from Madison avenue to the north city limits is expected to be completed by Oct. 15 by the general Ground Contracting Co. Yet to be undertaken is the pouring of concrete on the Nameoki-Fehling-Johnson road intersection.

City Plans to Eliminate State Street Jog

Elimination of a hazardous jog land in State street where it joins Fehling road is being planned by the city council.

A problem will be proper traffic control since the sweeping curve of Fehling road has access Alderman Sternberg, chairman of the Street committee, was authorized by the city council to proceed with the project.

Further complications are a crossing at the south end of the curve, a crosswalk for north section of Nameoki road State street and the traffic is for Maryville road.

Concrete work on Nameoki road from Madison avenue to the north city limits is expected to be completed by Oct. 15 by the general Ground Contracting Co. Yet to be undertaken is the pouring of concrete on the Nameoki-Fehling-Johnson road intersection.

The Oct. 15 date is beyond the deadline set by the state for placing the asphalt surface, but the city plans to ask the state highway department to ease the deadline if temperature and weather would permit completion of the work.

Sternberg explained that if the asphalt work is not finished, the city might be faced with "a lot of three-inch deep lakes" on the roadway since the plans call for a finish layer of asphalt on the new pavement.

Aldermen Stan Again On Ward Changes

City's 1967 Tax Levy Totals $1,321,637—Increase of $109,271

Redistricting of Granite City's eight wards to equalize population was sidetracked again Tuesday night.

Alderman Paul Rutledge, chairman of the special Ward Redistricting committee named a year ago, reported that Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Plan Commission would provide the city with a block-by-block population estimate for a nominal fee.

Rutledge added that Theodore Mikesell, executive director for the plan group, had made the offer at the urging of Mayor Partney, but Mikesell declined to give a cost figure.

Sewerless Areas Need Not Pay Sewage Treatment Bills

The $2.70 quarterly sewage treatment bills for May, June and July, mailed out by Granite City last week, have brought forth several complications that were ironed out Tuesday night by the city council.

The bills to North Granite area residents without sewers and any others without sanitary sewers need not be paid, but the householders are being asked to notify the sewage treatment office at the city hall so the charge cancellation can be verified.

In some instances, ownership of homes is in error, and these problems can be solved by telephoning or visiting the treatment plant office.

Council members voted $10,000 bonds for the clerks in the collection office.

Alderman Moerlein, chairman of the Special Pollution Plant committee, reported that the quantity of sludge from the plant is 2 1/2 times the original estimate and that a third and larger truck will be needed to haul the sludge from the plant at the Army Depot to the city dump.

Authorization was given for the bid call, and also for two replacement dump trucks for the street department.

A transfer of $5000 from the sales tax reserve to the treatment plant construction fund was authorized due to current bills. Moerlein explained there is a sufficient balance in the construction fund, but that the money is invested in bank certificates and the city would lose interest if the certificate is cashed prior to Sept. 15.

Chain of Rocks Bridge Traffic at 10% of Old Norms

The old Chain of Rocks bridge owned by the city of Madison has been operating at about 10% of normal volume since the adjacent toll-free Interstate 270 span was opened last Friday afternoon, according to traffic counts reviewed Tuesday night at the city council meeting.

The counts, taken by former toll collectors on the old bridge, showed 1255 crossings between 2 p.m. and midnight last Friday, 1650 on Saturday, 1821 on Sunday and 1651 on Labor Day.

Before tolls were removed on Aug. 1, crossings averaged from 12,000 to 15,000 per day.

Mayor Stephen Maeras, still seeking other possible uses for the old structure, said the current rate would be insufficient to operate the bridge for traffic, even if a 15-cent toll would be permitted.

"But traffic is peculiar, so we will wait," he said. "We won't know for two or three months."

Church Choral Programs Will Begin Sunday

The fall choral program of Niederrhein Memorial Methodist Church will begin Sunday with the four choirs under the general direction of Warren G. Simpkins.

The Youth Choir will sing at the 8:30 a.m. service, and the Chancel Choir, composed of older youths and adults, at the 10:40 a.m. service.

During the 10:40 service, immediately following the children's sermon delivered by the minister, the two children's choirs will give their first rehearsal. The Chancel Choir, grades one to three, will be directed by Mrs. James Loy.

The minister will deliver the sermon in both of the morning services on the theme, "For Such a Time as This." This sermon will deal with a Christian missions theme, and the members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service will receive their annual "Thank Offering" for Christian missions.

The evening worship service will be held in the Sanctuary at 7:30. The minister, Rev. R. Paul Sims, will preach on the subject, "Are You Listening?" after which there will be an opportunity for altar prayers.

Experts Army Report

The Mayor is expecting a report from the Secretary of the Army soon to determine the amount of income the city may be permitted to obtain, if possible, to continue to operate the traffic bridge. A study has been made by the St. Louis district of the Army Corps of Engineers.

The mayor is to meet soon with consultants from the Real Estate Research Corp. who are seeking other possible uses for the structure, and Joseph Brooks, bridge engineer.

Mayor Maeras reported that through the years, the St. Louis side of the bridge was zoned for residential purposes. The city council approved payment of a $25 zoning fee to have the property zoned for commercial purposes.

In other business, the council:

Miss Barton Completes WAC Basic Training

Bonnie J. Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Barton, 422 1/2 Highways, has completed eight weeks of basic training at the Women's Army Corps Center, Fort Benning, Ala.

She received instruction in Army history and traditions, administrative procedures, military justice, first aid and field training.

To Raise House

Called for bids to raise a vacant two-story house adjacent to the Madison city hall which the city purchased earlier for $13,500.

Approved purchase of a 1962 Ford truck with a bull horn and aerial for $773 from Orville Sykes of Granite City for the Civil Defense auxiliary police. The budget contains a $700 appropriation for the purpose.

Raised the status of William C. Papa to that of regular patrolman effective Sept. 1; he has served a 12-month probationary period.

Allowed expenses of $100 each to Policemen Marion Lionberger and Tony Turski to attend the ## annual convention of the Illinois Police Association during the Sept. 18 weekend at Springfield.

Street Patrol Asked

Requested the police department to patrol Elizabeth street and McCambridge avenue from 3 to 5 p.m. daily because of complaints of speeding violations.

Heard from the East Side Levee & Sanitary district that wording on pollution abatement bills will be changed from "sewer" to "sewage TR." The change was requested by the city because of confusion with the city's sewer with no direct billing to city taxpayers.

Tribute to Supt. Brown

At the opening of the meeting, the council stood in silent tribute to the late Wensel Brown, Madison superintendent of schools, who died last week.

American flags will be flown at half mast on city buildings, along with those of the school district, through the rest of September in Mr. Brown's memory.

Mayor Maeras said the post office will be asked to do the same.

Stop Sign Veto Overruled by Council

Council members overrode a veto by Mayor Partney to proceed with relocation of stop signs at the West 22nd street and Illinois avenue intersection.

The mayor pointed out Tuesday night that 22nd street was being opened to through traffic under an engineering study that classified it as a fire lane. The vote to override his veto was 11-2.

Fourth Ward Alderman Green noted there have been several accidents since the signs were vetoed by Mayor Partney to proceed with relocation of stop signs at the West 22nd street and Illinois avenue, and said 33 per cent had petitioned him for restoration of the stops on West 22nd.

He added that there are numerous other stop signs along the crossroad fire lane.

2 Local Churches to Induct Vicars Sunday

John Hartwig and Donald Rousu will be inducted into a year of service as vicars at Concordia and Hope Lutheran Churches, respectively, Sunday morning.

The theological training program for Lutheran pastors includes a year of in-service training in a congregation between the second and third year of seminary training. This interim program, a part of the training of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, gives the students opportunity to gain experience in the various facets of congregational life and work.

Hartwig, from near Chicago, will assist Pastor Twitemeyer, Rousu, of Monroe, Wash., will assist Pastor Alfred Bul. They will serve until September 1967, when they will return for their final year of theological training.

JUNIOR SERVICE CLUB TO BEGIN NEW YEAR

Mrs. Adrienne Warchol, president of the Madison Junior Service club for 1966-67, entertained board members in her home, 1511 Fifth street, Tuesday evening.

Plans were discussed for the year's activities, and projects are to be discussed more fully at the club meeting to be held next Tuesday at the Madison recreation center. The meetings will start promptly at 7:30.

Booklets will be given out to each member on the monthly activities and programs, at the first meeting of the new club year.

Those at the president's home were Mrs. Delores Gasho, Mrs. Rita Barnhart, Mrs. Deloyce Rhoads, Mrs. Doris Paterson, Mrs. Marilyn Schofield, Mrs. Julia Voloski and Miss Jeanette Triani.

Hostess served refreshments as the group discussed topics pertaining to projects of the club and the federation.

Mrs. Leora Rogers was hostess to the Past Noble Grand club of the Delray Rebekah lodge in her home, 2259 Iowa street, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Estella McBrien, president, presided over a short business meeting. Those taking part were Mrs. Mary Comole, Mrs. Lillian Holtzsch, Mrs. Belle Clemmons, Mrs. Ruth Hannebrink, Mrs. Dorothy Gregory, Mrs. Althea Gray and Miss Margaret Brown.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed by the group. Mrs. Gray, cohostess, assisted Mrs. Rogers in serving refreshments.

Mrs. Gregory will entertain in her home, 2800 Dale avenue, Oct. 4, with Mrs. Clemmons as cohostess.

Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y Clubs To Organize Next Week

Teen Town's Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs for high school students will begin meeting next Monday and Thursday evenings when information will be available to students interested in forming their own club.

The motto of the clubs is "to create, maintain and extend throughout the home, school and community high standards of Christian character."

The purpose is fulfilled by providing members with experiences in responsible citizenship, good social activities, physical improvement and means of finding their place in the world.

"With an adult advisor, the clubs work on projects of meaning and value, providing each member with a background of strength through working with others," according to Brian Bransman, youth program director at the YMCA.

Meeting each Monday from 7 to 8 p.m. will be Omega Tau, Chi Lambda Chi, Sigma Rho Gamma Tau, and from 8 to 9 p.m. Phi Delta Chi, Lambda Omicron Theta and Gamma Omega Delta.

Scheduled for 7 to 8 p.m. Thursdays are Omega Mu Mu, Phi Beta Kappa, the Y's Guys and the Spartans.

JUNIOR SERVICE CLUB TO BEGIN NEW YEAR

Mrs. Adrienne Warchol, president of the Madison Junior Service club for 1966-67, entertained board members in her home, 1511 Fifth street, Tuesday evening.

Plans were discussed for the year's activities, and projects are to be discussed more fully at the club meeting to be held next Tuesday at the Madison recreation center. The meetings will start promptly at 7:30.

Booklets will be given out to each member on the monthly activities and programs, at the first meeting of the new club year.

Those at the president's home were Mrs. Delores Gasho, Mrs. Rita Barnhart, Mrs. Deloyce Rhoads, Mrs. Doris Paterson, Mrs. Marilyn Schofield, Mrs. Julia Voloski and Miss Jeanette Triani.

Hostess served refreshments as the group discussed topics pertaining to projects of the club and the federation.

Mrs. Leora Rogers was hostess to the Past Noble Grand club of the Delray Rebekah lodge in her home, 2259 Iowa street, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Estella McBrien, president, presided over a short business meeting. Those taking part were Mrs. Mary Comole, Mrs. Lillian Holtzsch, Mrs. Belle Clemmons, Mrs. Ruth Hannebrink, Mrs. Dorothy Gregory, Mrs. Althea Gray and Miss Margaret Brown.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed by the group. Mrs. Gray, cohostess, assisted Mrs. Rogers in serving refreshments.

Mrs. Gregory will entertain in her home, 2800 Dale avenue, Oct. 4, with Mrs. Clemmons as cohostess.

VISIT GRANDDAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Foster Jr., 2022 Edwardsville road, Madison, returned Tuesday evening from Memphis, Tenn. They motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Foster Jr. to see their first granddaughter, whom has been named Paula Weston. She arrived Aug. 31 and weighed six pounds, four ounces.

This is the first child for the Fosters.

Po-Ke-No was played Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Hazel Swirving at the home during the

THE SEVENTH AND FINAL DEBATE between Lincoln and Douglas is honored by this marker located in Alton. The contest for the United States Senate drew a crowd of 10,000 on Oct. 15, 1858. The debate was held on the site of the old city hall located on Alton's waterfront.

Damaged on Bridge

Two cars were damaged at 8 p.m. Tuesday when they side-swiped on the west end of McKinley bridge in Venice, according to a report to police. Officers said both cars, driven by Robert D. McBride of St. Louis and Wilbert W. Schulze, Warren, Mo., were headed east. The cars side-swiped as McBride started to pass the Schulze car, police reported.

Parked Car Damaged

A parked car owned by Peggy Barr, 18 Moorland avenue, was damaged on the left side at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday when it was struck by a car driven by Lawrence Weiser, East St. Louis, in the 1500 block of Second street, in Madison. Police reported Weiser was driving west on Second street and was forced over by a passing truck, causing his car to hit the parked vehicle.

Stone on Alton Parking Lot Marks 7th, Last Debate

The site of the Lincoln-Douglas debate at Alton today is marked with a very inconspicuous stone, just off Broadway at the foot of Market street. The marker is on the edge of a large municipal parking lot, and busy motorists hurry to and fro, many of them failing to notice the simple flat stone unmarking the spot.

Nearby is the site of Illinois' first state prison, its smallpox epidemic during the Civil War days said to dark page in the history of the state. Looking south from the monument, one can see the broad Mississippi, the bridge leading to the Missouri shore, and towboats pushing their cargo up and down-river.

Prior to the Civil War, when Lincoln and Douglas debated the state, debating the slavery question, this spot marked the seventh and final debate between the two illustrious men. A crowd estimated at ten thousand people gathered to hear the three-hour-long argument. The date was Oct. 15, 1858, a crisp autumn day that drew the people from up and down-river, and from the inland communities that now comprise the local Quad-Cities industrial complex.

From a platform erected on the east side of the old city hall, Lincoln and Douglas met in their campaign for election to the U. S. Senate.

No PA Systems

Douglas, his voice worn from continual public speaking in loud tone (there were no public address system then, of course), maintained as in his previous debates with Lincoln, that each of the states should decide the slavery question itself. He told the crowd that Lincoln believed that a Negro was as good as a

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN DISCUSS FALL PLANS

The Nameoki United Presbyterian Women's Association held an executive board meeting Tuesday evening at the church, with Mrs. Irma Taylor, president, conducting the business session.

Mrs. Edith Simpson opened the meeting with devotions.

A letter from the Quad-City Council of Churches Women was read, and plans were made for the annual business meeting on Nov. 9, with the Nameoki Presbyterian Church as host church.

Mrs. Fern Mitchell, program chairman, announced that a regular association meeting will be held on Sept. 12 at the church. The program for the third quarterly meeting will be a film.

She also announced that the monthly study program for the circle meetings this month will be taken from the April and June issues of "Crossroads Study."

Mrs. Betty Flinn, fellowship chairman, announced plans for the meeting on Nov. 9.

Mrs. Sylvia Cross will speak at the association meeting Monday on ideas for a book study, with the books selected from UPW reading lists.

Mrs. Simpson gave the names of proposed officers to be elected at the regular meeting on Monday for the next year.

Mrs. Taylor requested that each member bring to the next meeting coupons, old nylon stockings, cancer dressings and baby gowns which have been made for an overseas sewing program.

Mrs. Cross closed the meeting with prayer. The next board meeting will be held in December.

Those attending were Mesdames Alta Stewart, Edith Arbogast, Louise Anderson, Bea Pyle, Lou Pyle and those named.

WEEKEND VISITOR Pvt. E2 Kelly Hogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hogan, 3205 Wilshire drive, spent the weekend at home visiting friends and relatives.

He returned to his Army base at Fort Gordon, Ga., Monday evening. He is in school there studying the repairing of field communication equipment and other signal corps duties.

Thompson-Rickly Engagement

From Memphis, Tenn., comes announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss LaKeta Marie Rickly, a daughter of Mrs. William J. Rickly Jr., of Memphis and the late Mr. Rickly, to Hadley E. Thompson, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm A. Thompson, 4170 Breckenridge lane.

The wedding will take place Oct. 1 at Lindsay Memorial Presbyterian Church in Memphis.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Central high school in Memphis and the University of Mississippi where she was a member of AOPi sorority, the "Ole Miss" band and the University Scholars.

Mr. Thompson was graduated from the Granite City schools and Southern Illinois University where he was a research assistant at the computer center and president of the student chapter of the Association of Computing Machinery.

Both the bride and groom-to-be are now mathematical analysts for Chrysler Corp. in the computer laboratory of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center in Sdell, La. After their marriage they plan to live in Lacombe, La.

Trio Unit Meet Attended by 22

A scheduled meeting of the Trio Unit of the Homemakers Extension was held Tuesday at Hope Lutheran Church.

Twenty-two were present, including three guests, Mrs. Ellen Ehler, Mrs. Marie Willie and Mrs. Donn Kinney.

"Understanding and Using a Daily Food Guide" was the topic of the major lesson presented by Mrs. Catherine Mauck, Madison County Home Adviser, who recommended using the guide for daily menu planning and the menu for the entire week.

The selected subject, "Making the Library Your Friend," was given by Mrs. Lawrence Markham. Mrs. Edward Granlanoff reminded the group of the membership drive to be held in October and each member was asked to bring a prospective member.

Plans were made for a "craft day" Nov. 1, and for a lesson by the district on "tin craft" Sept. 26.

Hostesses were Mrs. Preston Ridings and Mrs. Ervin Schaefer, and prizes in games went to Mrs. Elmer Neumann and Mrs. Charles Buenger. The next regular meeting will be held Oct. 4 at Hope Lutheran Church.

Warriors See Their Errors On Film, Then Make Amends

The 1966 version of the Warriors has seen the 1966 version of the Warriors. Which is to say, the Granite City varsity viewed and graded the full-scale scrimmage film of last weekend this week.

Just how the players "got his man" or "missed his man" grades compared with the ratings made by the individual specialty coaches is "classified information," but one message came through in capital letters:

KEEP JERSEYS TUCKED IN! Time and again, as the Warriors viewed the film after practice Monday night, it became apparent that many tucks were accomplished in jersey-jerking fashion. Jerseys on subsequent nights were tucked in.

Split and Pull. As for this week's practices, head coach Jim Morrison commented that this is the "split and pull" time. "We're doing less hitting, perfecting our techniques and sharpening up our timing," he said, in perfect execution of the traditional coaching understatement.

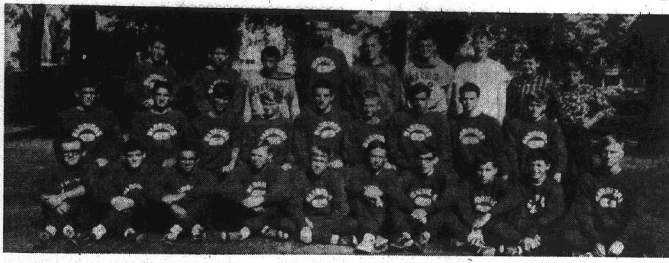

Injury-wise, there is still no word on guard John Hommer, out with an infection. Dave Snelson, quarterback competition for Steve Conway, was running last night after recovering from an ankle sprain.

Generally, the squad looks sharper as what was learned from the film study became more apparent.

Agility Period One aspect especially, brought out in the film review, was the effect of the agility drill, one of the most frenzied things seen at Wargoville.

The entire field becomes a virtual four-ring circus when director Morrison shouts, "Agility Drill!"

For the backs, the agility drill means a crashing run into the Blaster, which has lost one of its six arms here of late. From this point, a 20-yard sprint head-on into a two-man sled.

Then the backs, in single file order, have a go at four individual hand-held dummies grasped by a quartet of teammates standing four feet apart in a single row.

From this rat-a-tat routine, the backs step gingerly through a series of 10 automobile tires on the ground. Then they circle wide and come back for a series of four hurdles 10 feet apart. The hurdles are the big stand-up dummies placed on their side.

Other Units Busy, Too This is just one ring of the four-way spectacle. Coach Stan Wojcik has guards and centers, Tom Wyrostek the tackles and coach Leon Chappell the ends—all doing separate agility routines.

"The effects of these short drills are really amazing when we see the film," Morrison said, explaining that the evolution of agility drills came about after total of fifteen. That would be the lowest possible winning score."

Warriors Open Cross Country In Meet With Triad Tomorrow

"In cross country, the lowest score wins." A boy in a back row of Warrior coach Dick Harmon's squad seemed to take on a disbelieving expression upon hearing the statement.

But coach Harmon was explaining the bare fundamentals of the barrier sport to his nearly 30 member squad on the eve of its first meet at Triad tomorrow at 4 p.m.

His explanation, for the benefit of several new squad members, made the seemingly contradictory statement make sense. "If a team has the number one, two, three, four and five finishers," Harmon said, "this adds up to a total of fifteen. That would be the lowest possible winning score."

Three Lettermen Actually, Harmon's squad this season isn't all this inexperienced by any means, although it contains just three returning letter-winners.

Harmon doesn't dole out letters easily. Another message he got over loud and clear to the varsity barriers: "You have to finish in the top seven on every team," he explained, "and you have to run in some big meets."

Joe Pashea, Gus Schalkham and Dave Lomax are the returning monogram winners. Thus far, with only the second time trial thoroughly digested, Pashea has clocked in the best mileage—a 10-32, over Wilson Park's mile and nine-tenths.

Large Circus to Appear Here Twice Tomorrow
The King brothers will bring a three-ring circus to the Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameki road, for two performances tomorrow, at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the gate. The "big top" show is making its 47th annual tour.

More than 100 people are in the troupe, and new acts include trapeze stars, acrobats, gymnasts and clowns, plus a wide variety of animal acts, including elephants.

Drag Racing Charged
John P. Barham, 2401 Hemlock avenue, was taken to the Granite City police station by a state trooper at 1:15 a.m. today on a charge of drag racing and driving with an expired license. He was released on $100 cash bail returnable Sept. 29.

Cue Champion Here This Saturday, Sunday
The scheduled 2 p.m.-4 p.m. appearance of Eddie Beauchene at the Tri-City Cue Center, previously announced as being Oct. 10-11, will actually take place this Saturday and Sunday.

Beauchene, world champion snooker player and all-around runnerup, will precede the appearance of famous Willie Mosconi on Oct. 5.

State Loses

Officials contended in their complaint that inspections revealed continued burning during the September and October months. Venice officials denied that it was burning at the city dump and contended photographs and other evidence of burning involved that in other dumping areas surrounding that owned by the city.

William "Mike" Ebersoldt, Venice city clerk, and Jay Maurer, city street superintendent, testified at the hearing that the city discontinued use of the dump site after receiving the June 4 order.

In his order, Judge Schuman held that the city of Venice "has not discharged air contaminants into the atmosphere through the practice of open burning; that the evidence showed that other parties dumped in the area, and there was no evidence that the defendant ever done any open burning of any of its trash in said area."

The order dismissed the complaint and assessed costs of the proceeding against the state.

Three Auto Accident

An auto driven by Lorene Matthews, East St. Louis, struck the left rear of a parked auto owned by Harold Thiek, 1905 Spruce street, showing it into the rear bumper of a third owned by Harry A. Logan, 1541 Rodger avenue, at 4:40 p.m. Wednesday at 1865 Madison avenue. The woman was charged with driving with an expired license and was summoned for a hearing by Sept. 20.

$943,000 Venice

fund, and $840 was placed in the education fund budget, the most medical-hospital insurance costs.

A public hearing on the budget preceding the board meeting, but only one other than a Press-Record reporter attended.

In other financial transactions, resolutions were passed to invest $143,883 in U.S. government 90-day time certificates. Amounts to be invested by the school district from various funds are: $200,000, educational; $150,000, working cash fund; $25,000, building fund; and $38,883, bond and interest fund.

Transfer for funds to the working cash fund also was authorized, including $35,000 from federal school Title I funds, $109,000 from the Illinois state fund, the building fund, $592,000 from the bonds and interest fund and $63,000 from the educational fund.

A revolving fund used to pay salaries of faculty members engaged in basketball games, where game officials and to meet other miscellaneous costs was created through a $350 transfer from the education fund.

Supt. Pier said $138 from the summer Head Start lunch program and a $75 refund on an insurance claim brought the restricted fund total to $431.

Board Member Leo Davinroy, building committee chairman, agreed to meet this week with school officials to investigate needed repairs at Lincoln grade school. Supt. Pier told the board that repairs are necessary to the school's furnace. Window gaskets need to be replaced, and screens should be purchased for the cafeteria area to eliminate flying insects, he reported.

The board granted permission to the Venice Junior Service club to use the Venice school building Wednesday, Oct. 19, for the group's annual style show.

Following recommendations made by the school administrator, it was agreed to purchase an NCR adding machine at a school discount price of $177, and preventative maintenance insurance policy from Simplex Time Recorder Co. at a cost of $70 for a one-year premium.

The policy will cover periodic inspection and replacement of electric parts in the 11-circuit electric time system at Lincoln school.

Several board members expressed interest in resuming visits to a government surplus warehouse site at Springfield, Ill., after Supt. Pier explained that purchasing trips may be made by school personnel each 30 days.

Previously visits had been restricted to once in each 90-day period.

The superintendent also said the school district's annual audit will begin later this week, and that the accounts payable, Illinois department of public instruction are expected to make audits at all Mercer county schools this month.

Monthly bills approved for payment included $17,182 from the education fund, $656 from the building fund and $441 as the district's contribution to the retirement fund.

Based on the Hodge-Butler tax limitation law, the city's tax rate this year was cut to 60.8 cents per $100 assessed valuation, down from the 1965 rate of 75.1 cents, and at least $160,000 less tax income is expected next year, even though the tentative property assessment for next year is up $3,384,700 to a total of $159,000,000. The new valuation is subject to revision by the county.

A breakdown of the new levy and comparison with last year's levy follows, with the new figure listed first:

General administration, $47,121 and $20,677; police department, $279,817 and $249,444; interest and judgment, $28,100 and $13,400; street department, $88,061 and $65,000; pumping station, $2200, same; humane department, $4280 and $3500; inspection department, $7406 and $12,096; contingency fund, $10,000, same; city hall, $21,051 and $22,420; city commission, $6139 and $8220; election, $7000 and none; Fire department, $248,000, same; special street fund, $93,000 and none; police pension, $45,000, same; firemen pension, $45,000, same; fire hydrants, $20,000, same; street lighting, $34,000 and $26,000; sanitation department, $139,995 and $149,065; public library, $114,455 and $102,855; Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, $38,000 and $34,000; sewer maintenance, $25,000, same; civil defense, $10,000, same.

Dark Interstate 270 Signs, Ramp Hurting Mitchell

With Missouri turnoff signs already lit and lights installed on the Missouri range of Interstate 270, opening of the new river bridge Sept. 2 is adversely affecting Mitchell area business.

It was turned today. Bids will be opened this month by the Illinois highway division in Springfield on lighting the bridge and canal bridge and on lighting signs and ramps at three Interstate 270 interchanges here, 111, 283 and Three.

In the meantime, westbound motorists are not being sufficiently alerted that they are crossing the Mississippi (the new bridge has no superstructure), and many intending to stop in Illinois to eat or sleep are finding themselves already in Missouri.

Chamber Studies Revenue, Hospital

Plans to take a stand on the Illinois constitutional revenue amendment and on proposed expansion of St. Elizabeth Hospital were made during the September dinner meeting of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce board Tuesday evening.

A filmed report on the "blue book" revenue article to be voted on Nov. 8 was viewed and discussed. Among the aspects to be studied is the effect on local governmental agencies' taxing and bonding power from possible elimination of personal property taxes.

A detailed discussion of Quad-City hospital needs was held, with adoption of a Chamber policy scheduled for the Oct. 4 board meeting.

Plans announced included a Chamber member breakfast Sept. 14, a Planning-Zoning Committee tour for Granite City aldermen Sept. 24, attendance at an Illinois Retail Merchants Association area meeting Sept. 29, Centralis, and a Chamber of Commerce leaders' workshop Sept. 29 at McKendree College. A course in "practical politics" will begin tomorrow evening, and high school students tours of four local plants are being arranged for October. Other reports dealt with a successful farm tour Aug. 29, Horseshoe Lake development, a junior college survey, industrial development and the annual Chamber dinner meeting Nov. 3.

ed to be first graders at Nameoki school.

John Gorrell Jr., three, suffered minor injuries when an auto driven by his father, John W. Gorrell, 619 Fleming place, struck the left front of an auto operated by Esther G. Mercer, 3317 Wabash avenue, who police said had eased too far onto Nameoki road from the driveway at the Nameoki Village shopping center at 8:25 p.m. Tuesday.

Two persons suffered minor injuries at 7:40 a.m. today in a three-vehicle accident when one driven by Glen E. Hubbart, 3017 Madison avenue, collided with a pickup truck driven by Charles Sparks, Collinsville, and then with an auto driven by Mary B. Walton, 26, of 57 January lane, who was stopped for a red light at 23rd street and Madison avenue.

Hurt were Miss Walton and Mrs. Mary Ann Sparks, Collinsville, who was a passenger in the Sparks auto. Hubbart was charged with a signal light violation.

Two motorists were injured in a two-car collision at 6:45 a.m. today at the intersection of Route 203 and Bend road south of Madison.

Admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital was Hugo Auferheide, 74, of 238 Bend road, who suffered cuts and abrasions to his face and head. State police said the other driver, David Belman, 46, of Fairmount City, suffered minor injuries.

Emily Staphos, 72, and Lillian Leidy, 65, both of Florissant, Mo., were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 12:20 p.m. Tuesday for injuries sustained in a highway traffic accident. Mrs. Staphos had pains in the right knee and abrasions to the right knee. Mrs. Leidy had abrasions to the left knee. Both were released. Details of the mishap were unavailable.

Will T. Wood, 55, of Collinsville, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 6:40 p.m. yesterday for a laceration behind the left ear received in an auto accident. Wood was released following emergency treatment.

Dinner Welcomes New GC Teachers

Two hundred persons attended the annual Granite City Trust & Savings Bank dinner for new Granite City school district teachers last night. The buffet dinner was served in the bank lobby.

Howard D. Southwood, dean of the SIU-SU education division, was principal speaker, stressing the human side of teacher-child relationships. Recalling his experiences as a student and teacher, he outlined pupils' viewpoints and said the caliber of instruction provided by schools has a marked impact on children.

The gathering included the approximately 80 teachers joining the faculty here this fall, and their husbands or wives. Ernest D. Karandeff, president of the bank, presided and there were talks by Supt. Russell D. Johnson and School Board President Monroe Worthen, with prayer by Rev. Paul Sims, Minister of the First Baptist Church, and closing remarks by Henry D. Karandeff, board chairman of the bank. Supt. Johnson introduced school board members, administrators and principals.

Who's to Collect Ordinance Stalled

Revision of 32 ordinances, dating back nearly 10 years, to place responsibility for collection of rental fees for the Name-ohi sanitary sewer system with the controller, was deferred Tuesday night by the council.

The change from the city clerk and treasurer to the controller was authorized last December by the council, and because of the time needed to research the numerous ordinances involving the sewer system and its extensions, most aldermen had forgotten about it.

Mayor Partney presented minutes of the Dec. 6, 1965, meeting to refresh their memories, but it was decided to defer action to permit the Finance committee to review the matter.

Council members were told that while all the ordinances designate the clerk and treasurer to handle the billing and collecting, the work always has been done by the controller and his staff.

Accident, Fall Claims Pending Against City

Four lawsuits and an intention to file a claim against the city were presented to the Granite City council at Tuesday night's meeting and were referred to City Atty. Allen.

Two circuit court notices were for suits arising from a collision at 27th street and Madison avenue where persons were hurt. Defective operation of the traffic signal lights was blamed for the crash.

Carole Boyer, 4105 Braden avenue, is seeking $25,000 for injuries sustained in a sidewalk fall at 20th street and Grand avenue last Feb. 1.

In another suit, the city was named third party by Mr. and Mrs. Adebart Ambush, 1521 Clark avenue, who are seeking $7500 damages to their home Jan. 9, 1962, resulting from a water line break that was blamed on repair work to a city sewer. East St. Louis is Intervenor Water Co. also is a defendant.

Mrs. Katherine Pulley, 2215 State street, informed the city she is intending to file suit against the city for injuries suffered by her son, Jeffery, in a sidewalk fall Sept. 23, 1965, at 22nd and State streets.

EIU Alumni to Hold Semi-Annual Dinner

The Madison-St. Clair Counties Alumni Association of Eastern Illinois University will hold its semi-annual dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 17, at Augustine's restaurant, Belleville, it was announced today by Maurice Hemphill of Granite City, association president.

All EIU alumni, whether association members or not, are being invited to attend the fall dinner session, Hemphill said. Principal speaker will be Rex Darling, EIU head basketball coach, who will discuss both basketball and football prospects for the Eastern squads in the coming seasons.

Another feature will be a movie, showing expansion programs and numerous changes made on the university campus in recent years. Kenneth Hesler, EIU director of alumni activities will present the film and also give a preview of special events planned for the homecoming celebration, set for Oct. 8. Hemphill said that reservations, at $3.50 per person, may be made by calling him at TR 7-0257 prior to Sept. 15. He added that a cocktail-get acquainted hour is planned from 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Seek FPC Authority To Install Turbine

Mississippi River Transmission Corp., natural gas pipeline system supplying the Illinois-Missouri Metropolitan area, yesterday asked the Federal Power Commission for authority to install a 3400 horsepower turbine compressor on its pipeline near Sandoval, Ill., at an estimated cost of $711,000.

Purpose of the installation, the firm said, is to enable the company to deliver to gas utility companies additional quantities of gas which will be available on a day to day basis from pipeline sources on the Illinois line.

The company also requested approval of a new priority interruptible service schedule covering such additional quantities of gas. Under this service schedule, gas companies of the area will have first call on interruptible volumes which the company can make available over and above their firm contracts.

'Foxy' Squirrel Visits Store, Beggins Peanuts and Soda Pop

Albert Dugan, owner of the Northtown Used Furniture store of 4300 Nameoki road, was explaining the details of a blue sofa when the customer asked, "Does that squirrel stay in here all the time?" What squirrel? asked Dugan.

Much to the storeowner's surprise a small "Foxy" squirrel jumped past him, bounded off the blue sofa on his way, apparently, to a back entrance of the store.

Assuming that the squirrel had left the store, Dugan returned to his office. Moments later a "clucking" noise caused Dugan to look up and see the squirrel sitting on the counter of the office on his hind legs, "begging."

After the squirrel had eaten two bags of peanuts and had drunk almost a bottle of soft drink fed to him by Mrs. Dugan through a straw, he jumped down and bounded out of the store.

Mrs. Dugan said that animal is either very dumb or very smart. "It is squirrel season, you know."

Car Fire Delays Traffic

An auto which burst into flames, apparently from overheated brake drums, tied up rush hour traffic at the Illinois route 3 exit from Interstate 270 for half an hour Tuesday evening. The car was owned by Ronnie Meyer, Bethalto.

SQUIRREL SEASON IS IN, but this "Foxy" squirrel wanting a part of it, took refuge Monday afternoon in the Northtown Used Furniture Store. Here the squirrel perched on a radio, is being fed a soft drink through a straw by the owner of the store.

Nameoki Board Delays Annexation Discussion

Because Township Attorney Nick Vasilief was out of the city, the Nameoki town board Tuesday night postponed discussion of a plan to challenge in court the annexation by Granite City of Grisby junior high school and 20 acres of ground.

Vasilief has been checking into Illinois statutes to determine if the Granite City action can be challenged because the annexed area was not contiguous to the city limits and part of Pontoon road was annexed to the city. The board also postponed discussion on potential passage of an ordinance to prohibit or limit operation of vending machines in the township area.

The brief meeting involved discussion of routine matters. The next meeting will be held Oct. 3.

Reject Plea To Cancel Collinsville Pact

A request by the city of Collinsville that the East Side Levee & Sanitary District cancel the city's contract for participation in the levee district sewage treatment plant was rejected yesterday by levee board officials.

The plea for cancellation of the contract was presented by L. Lawrence Welch, Collinsville corporation attorney, at a scheduled meeting of levee district trustees.

Lawrence Welch, levee board president, and John Sprague, involved in this and I believe we levee district attorney, told Welch we then the obligation not to cancel the contract.

Treatment plant and other phases of the disposal system had been designed and built to accommodate Collinsville along with nine other communities that have been signed contracts to use the levee district's plant on a rental fee of 75 cents to 90 cents if Collinsville joined in the sewer program.

Carl Williams, a member of the Collinsville five-man city commission, accompanied Welch but did not take part in the discussions. Welch pointed out to the levee officials that the Collinsville city council passed an ordinance providing for participation in the levee district sewage treatment plant, but that it's effectiveness was dependent upon passage of a $3.5 million dollar revenue bond issue.

The bond issue, "So far," he noted, "I have not approved by Collinsville Mayor seen any kind of a sewer plan Norman Weber subsequently submitted by Collinsville officials was defeated.

Welch admitted there is no Collinsville plan to build the sewer lines that would revive plans for a bond issue and the connect with trunk lines built by that a second offering of the levee district to a referendum is not like Collinsville. Now, Welch said in the near future, Welch also Mayor Weber is supporting a note that only about one-third plan under which Collinsville has sewers and would build its own disposal system in the unsewered sections of the levee district.

Sprague said that the contract which Collinsville signed with the levee district carries no specific provisions that would invalidate it if Collinsville was unable to obtain passage of a bond issue. Both he and Tolar pointed out that in negotiating with all levee district plan, rather than the communities for participation in construction of a disposal plant, the program, sewer rental rates in Collinsville, but that opposition as well as the design of the system to the proposal is such that it was based upon commitment of such a program.

Welch said that a majority of the city council still favors the levee district plan, rather than the communities for participation in construction of a disposal plant, the program, sewer rental rates in Collinsville, but that opposition as well as the design of the system to the proposal is such that it was based upon commitment of such a program.

First from Mercury in '66—Finest by far in '67. Now on 4 models—50 to 110 HP—and with no breaker points to wear out! Only Mercury has Thunderbolt—a super-power electronic ignition—now without breakers and available as standard equipment on all 65- and 110-HP models and on 50- and 65-HP electric-starting models with alternators. With Thunderbolt, there's no need for periodic adjustments to plugs and points—timing never needs resetting. Exclusive Polar-Gap spark plugs last seasons—no hours! Pre-ignition, even with highly leaded fuels, is virtually unknown! Engine efficiency and reliability are dramatically increased! Idling is silken-smooth, plug fouling is forgotten. Thunderbolt fires new four and six cylinder Mercs with lightning speed and power.

From the world leader in marine propulsion comes the most advanced, most complete line of outboards!

New Thunderbolt ignition without breaker points... unique System of Silence that makes Mercury the quietest outboard you can buy... Jet-Prop exhaust to bury sound and fumes deep underwater... these are just some of the features that will put you ahead with a Mercury '67.

At Lake X and Sarasota, Florida, at Fond du Lac and Oshkosh, Wisconsin, Mercs are put through the toughest tests Mercury engineers can devise. They run day and night for weeks at full throttle, in both fresh and salt water, over time, measured distances... hit sandbars at 40 MPH to prove shocks... plow through saw grass and water hyacinths to test cooling systems. The '67 Mercury you buy has already been proved in years of customer use—squeezed into weeks of intensive tests.

Award to Brink for Role in Bond Drive

Surprise presentation of a U. S. Treasury Department award to Nicholas R. Brink, A. O. Smith Corp. plant manager, took place at Tuesday night's monthly Chamber of Commerce board meeting at the Rose Bowl.

The citation noted Brink's "patriotic support and service in the conduct of the U. S. savings bond campaign" this year in the Quad-Cities. It was presented by Henry D. Karandjeff, board chairman of the Trust & Savings Bank and American National Bank, and Madison county savings bond chairman.

The award was signed by the secretary of the treasury. Karandjeff noted that bond sales are occurring at the approximate level of goals set for this area.

Area Church Census Starts Sunday; Forms Due Sept. 17

The Tri-City Ministerial Alliance announced that a religious survey will be held in the southern half of Madison county beginning with distribution of forms in 11 area churches this Sunday.

The forms, which contain questions of family size and church preferences, will appear in the Sept. 12 and 15 issues of the Press-Record. The Alliance requests that the forms be cut out, completed and hung on the door of each residence for pickup beginning at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 17. The completed forms will be picked up by volunteers from over 50 cooperating area churches.

Other distribution points will be in area supermarkets and other business concerns.

GC Civil Defense Opens First Aid Class to Public

Interested citizens may register for Red Cross first-aid training between 7-9 p.m. Thursday at the Granite City civil defense center, 1411 Nineteenth street.

The initial session of the standard first-aid course will get underway Tuesday evening, Sept. 20. John Becker, Granite City CD auxiliary police chief, said today that textbooks and other materials will be distributed at the registration. The course is primarily designed as the preliminary phase of general training for new auxiliary police officers and civil defense personnel. Due to a limited number of qualified Red Cross first-aid instructors in the Quad-Cities, participation has been opened to the general public for the first time.

The training program will include a standard first-aid course for beginning students, consisting of five weekly sessions of two hours each, followed with an advanced course. The latter will consist of eight weekly sessions, also of two hours duration.

The two courses will run concurrently, Becker said, with those completing both then eligible to take instructor's training. Sessions will be taught by Becker and Clarence Weaver, an auxiliary police officer. Both men are qualified Red Cross instructors.

Additional information about the first-aid courses, or general auxiliary police training may be obtained Tuesday, at the local CD center, Becker said.

Zone Changes OK For Apartments

Changes in zoning for apartments at 2829-31 Warren avenue and also for a 10-acre tract along Maryville road opposite the new Worthen Playground and Parkway school were authorized Tuesday night by Granite City council members.

The changes, approved by the City Plan Commission, are to be resubmitted in ordinance form at a later date for final approval.

Buildings containing six apartments are to be erected at 2829-31 Warren avenue. The zone change petitioner is Bernard Royce. The request for apartment zoning along Maryville road was submitted by Henry Ross of HWR Development Co.

Others delayed approval of the zone change requests.

A change to C-2 commercial from R-2 single-family dwelling for 3703-11 Namecki road, requested by the Steele family, was denied by the Plan Commission, but C-1 commercial was approved, subject to review by the Eighth Ward aldermen.

Also delayed was approval of a special use permit for Dr. Gerard Baggot, physician, at 3408-10 Namecki road. Several objections plan to appear before the council when the matter is brought up again, it was reported.

Placed on first reading was an ordinance for annexation of Lot 9 on Spring avenue off Gontenman avenue in Bellemoor place.

Smiths Fined, Freed After Shooting Fracas

Wilbur Franklin Smith, 28, of Breckenridge, Mo., and Louis Smith, 25, of 2669 Namecki drive, who were involved in a shooting and bottle throwing fracas Sunday night on Circle drive, were released Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday after paying fines.

The older of the two, who was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with a gunshot wound in the right forearm, was returned to the police station to face a disorderly conduct charge.

The other paid fines totaling $150 on disorderly conduct and unlawful use of a weapon as a .22 caliber rifle was found in his auto.

A third participant, James English, 20, of 2137 Robert avenue, was being held in jail on bonds of $500 for disorderly conduct and $500 for a charge of aggravated battery.

Three other defendants, John McDaid, 25, of East Alton, Robert Tidwell, 17, of 2549 Circle drive, and Thomas Fails, 18, of 2167 Lynch avenue, are scheduled for hearings on disorderly conduct charges next Thursday.

Busy GC Council OK's Sidewalk on Leonard Ave.; Finds Street Too Costly

Miscellaneous business on sidewalks, streets and drainage was conducted during a 2½-hour session of the Granite City Council Tuesday night. Three aldermen were absent—Boyd, Johnson and Thompson—and three others departed for work before the meeting ended—Basarich, Moerlein and Dallas.

Award of a contract to Thomas Skerle Concrete Co. on a bid of 60.4 cents a square foot—$128—to install a sidewalk along Leonard avenue for pupils attending St. Margaret Mary school, was approved. The only other bid was $130 (65 cents a square foot) by Stearns Concrete Co. of Maryville road.

A repeat request for repairs to all rail crossings was presented by Alderman Poulos, who noted extremely dangerous conditions at the 22nd street and 19th street crossings.

New Street Turned Down

No action was taken by the council when an estimate of $125,000 was given to provide a Class A pavement on 16th street from State street west to the railroad tracks and around the south end of the Granite City Industrial Center buildings to Niedringhaus avenue.

The unimproved roadway west of Cleveland blvd. is privately owned and not maintained by the city. Alderman Sternberg, street committee chairman, said that while the roadway would provide another outlet from the West Granite—Lincoln Place area across town to State street, funds are not available to carry out the work.

He noted the extreme problem of drainage because of adjacent railroad tracks that are higher than the street.

Drainage along Iowa street and Washington avenue at 16th street and south has become a problem since Granite City Steel's expansion program started, and Sternberg said he was conferring with the company and its contractors on providing drainage.

GC Council Switches Date To Attend Convention

The next session of the Granite City council will be held on a Wednesday night—Sept. 21—because most aldermen and city officials will be in Chicago attending a convention on the Moerlein Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, Monday, Sept. 19.

The change in meeting date was authorized during Tuesday evening's meeting when it was noted the annual convention of the Illinois Municipal League will be Sept. 17-20.

Each city official attending will receive an expense allowance of $175.

Aldermen planning to attend are—Bartosiak, Basarich, Boyd, Dallas, Fry, Green, Johnson, Moerlein, Mon, Parmley, Poulos and Robertson.

Other officials will be City Clerk Peadar, Street Supt. Warfield, Treasurer Rich, Comptroller Stevens and City Atty. Albee.

If all aldermen and officials would attend the convention, the total cost would be $3850.

be available for the city's own work on arterial streets.

Approved was a request for a 14-foot extension on the 23rd street driveway at Andy's Sinclair Service, 23rd and Madison avenue.

Reluctance to pay a five-cent per capita fee (about $230) to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council to fill a refedat requirement for an agency to serve as a major highway planning group for the two-state metropolitan area was expressed by the aldermen, who said they favored a program adopted by the Alton city council.

Payment by County Sought

Mayer Partney pointed out Alton favors the payment to be made by the county board of supervisors. He added that in the event some municipalities failed to meet their obligation, the five-cent fee could be raised.

Change in MPT Policy

Sternberg was authorized to study a change in policy by the state in requiring cities to pay larger amounts of motor fuel tax funds for improvement of primary roads through a municipality. Hearings are to start next month.

Under the present policy, cities pay 50% of such costs from MPT funds. The new figures would be 62%, cutting the amount of MPT funds that would be available for the city's own work on arterial streets.

Reluctance to pay a five-cent per capita fee (about $230) to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council to fill a refedat requirement for an agency to serve as a major highway planning group for the two-state metropolitan area was expressed by the aldermen, who said they favored a program adopted by the Alton city council.

Payment by County Sought

Mayer Partney pointed out Alton favors the payment to be made by the county board of supervisors. He added that in the event some municipalities failed to meet their obligation, the five-cent fee could be raised.

Change in MPT Policy

Sternberg was authorized to study a change in policy by the state in requiring cities to pay larger amounts of motor fuel tax funds for improvement of primary roads through a municipality. Hearings are to start next month.

Under the present policy, cities pay 50% of such costs from MPT funds. The new figures would be 62%, cutting the amount of MPT funds that would be available for the city's own work on arterial streets.

Approved was a request for a 14-foot extension on the 23rd street driveway at Andy's Sinclair Service, 23rd and Madison avenue.

Approved was a request for a 14-foot extension on the 23rd street driveway at Andy's Sinclair Service, 23rd and Madison avenue.

Council members voted to submit the request to the county board.

Referred to the city's Air Pollution Control Commission was a letter from the East-West Gateway Council regarding a series of hearings in the two-state area to develop a uniform program of pollution abatement, based on the Interstate Air Pollution Study.

The hearings are to be held at 10 a.m. with the first on Sept. 27 at Kiel Auditorium Assembly Hall 1 on Sept. 27, the second on Oct. 11 in Lovejoy Auditorium on the new Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Campus, and the third on Oct. 19 in Room 201 of the Clayton Community Center, Clayton, Mo.

Placed on file was a notice of a Congress of Cities to be given for a 75-foot, one-hour parking zone along 23rd street at Edna street for a gift shop.

Auto Theft Conference

Permission was given to Police Chief Willard to send two officers to the Midwest Auto Theft Conference to be held Sept. 27-28 at the University of Illinois campus, Urbana, during which an expert will review the U.S. Supreme Court decision on questioning suspects of crime. The conference is being arranged by the state highway police. The officers will receive $50 each for expenses.

Bids are to be sought to convert the coal furnace at the Nacooki road fire station to gas fuel, and possible revision of stop locations will be studied by the Traffic committee.

The committee also is to study requests for stop signs on Edwards street at Henry street and for a 75-foot, one-hour parking zone along 23rd street at Edna street for a gift shop.

Accounts Honor Sister M. Frances

Sister M. Frances, business office supervisor at St. Elizabeth Hospital, has been awarded a plaque by the Southern Illinois Chapter of the American Association of Hospital Accountants.

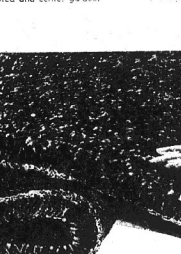

The plaque was presented by members of the chapter at a recent meeting in appreciation of the leadership offered by Sister Frances during the year she served as president of the chapter.

During recent years, Sister Frances has held the offices of president-elect, treasurer and secretary. She was one of the founding members of the association which was established in 1959. Prior to that time, Sister Frances was a member of the National Chapter of Hospital Accountants which was established in 1954.

Asked To White House For Transit Signing

C. E. Townsend, chairman of the Bi-State Development Agency and publisher of the Press-Record, yesterday received a telegram from President Johnson inviting him to the White House for signing of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1966 today.

Townsend was unable to attend due to a previously scheduled meeting of the Agency transit operations committee. He expressed the hope, however, that a name would be found by which the Bi-State transit system could benefit from the $300 million made available by the new Urban Mass Transportation Act. This requires state or local government matching funds since fare box revenue cannot be used and Bi-State Agency has no taxing power.

Signing of the 1966 Transportation Act by President Johnson took place in the cabinet room of the White House.

Trailriders Host Show

Jack Baker and Billy Dugan were welcomed into the Trailriders Saddle Club at its meeting Tuesday night at the YMCA, and 17 members were in attendance. ## GC Alderman to Probe $6000 Boost in MFT Project Cost Action on a supplemental motor fuel tax resolution to add $6000 for extra work carried out as the $58,940 improvement of sections of Olive and Chestnut streets was deferred Tuesday night.

Alderman Whitmer called for deferral, saying he wanted time to look into the additional costs for paving driveway aprons and the sidewalk replacement that were not in the original plans.

A second request for deferral was made by Alderman Fry. In presenting the resolution, Alderman Sternberg, chairman of the Street committee, said he was advised by the city's MFT engineering firm of Research, Plan & Design Associates that the work was found necessary after the contract had been awarded to the A. H. Seebold Co.

No Added Engineer Cost Alderman Norn, in whose Fifth Ward the project was located, commented that the engineer had prepared the plans and the work was without any charge to the city.

Sternberg noted that in the original bid, the cost of sidewalk aprons was $3248, but actually amounted to $3248. Driveways, the bid amount was $3609, and the actual cost was $3625, due to the changes by the engineer.

The overall increase in the contract amounted to about $13,000, and Sternberg added that in some instances the amount of work was quadrupled which could have changed the unit price in bidding.

He said the engineer had ordered the changes without consulting with the council, and it was agreed by the aldermen to outline a "chain of decision" for the engineer.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF SON Rev. and Mrs. Linhart Raymond, 625 Ashland avenue, are announcing the birth of an eight-pound, 12-ounce son at St. Elizabeth Hospital Sept. 2. He has been named Robert Charles. The mother and infant returned home Monday.

Members of the Faith Chapel General Baptist Church held a work-day Monday at the church. A pot luck lunch was served at noon.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Don Butler and children, Rev. and Mrs. Willard Myers and children, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith and children, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Caldwell and sons and Wayne McInnis.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snodell returned Monday from Rantoul, Ill., after visiting Mrs. Paul McDonald and family over the holiday weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Weeks returned Monday from Elkhart, Mo., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ghys over the Labor Day weekend.

VENICE CANCELS

eliminated, and all other projects not absolutely essential will be cut out of the budget listings.

"In other words," Mayor Lee said, "the city will not spend a single dollar that is not absolutely necessary."

The mayor pointed out that levies for the general fund, the police protection fund and the street and alley fund are based on the higher rates as proposed in the referendum. An adverse court decision would reduce these levies extensively and leave the city in a critical financial plight. Levies of all other city funds also were increased substantially in the new levy ordinance approved last night.

Without the tax rate increases, Venice is confronted with a potential deficit of $146,713 by the end of its current fiscal year, April 30, 1967. Even with the increases, Mayor Lee said, the city expects a deficit of $53,004 next May 1.

To test the results of the tax rate referendum, the council last night passed a resolution declaring that the rate increase proposals were approved, and will certify a copy of the vote results to the county clerk's office. The city then will file a mandamus proceeding against the county clerk to force extension of the higher rates. This will bring the matter before the circuit court and clear the way for a subsequent ruling on the validity of the rate increases.

Total anticipated increase in the city's overall tax rate for the 1966 tax year was not set out in the tax levy bill, but increases provided in the three funds subject to the referendum will account in themselves for a boost of 24.1 cents per $100 valuation. This includes a boost in the general fund rate from last year's 17.1 cents to 33.3 cents, in the police fund from last year's 12 cents to 15 cents and in the street fund from 5.2 cents to 10.1 cents.

Rates for other funds will increase in proportion to the rise in levy extensions for each individual fund. Last year's city rate for Venice was 65.2 cents per $100 valuation.

Of the total $463,136 provided in the new levy, $146,063 is for the general corporate fund. This is an increase of $47,702 over last year's $101,361 for all accounts included out of the general fund.

The new levy for the street department is set at $45,630, compared to $23,325 last year, and sets up $72,187 for the police department, compared to a levy of $53,800 last year. In addition to these amounts, the street department has an additional levy of $31,132 included in the general fund levy. The general fund also includes an additional levy of $40,202 for the police department.

Levies for other special accounts, compared to those of last year, are:

Garbage fund, $38,000, ($23,325); police pension fund, $40,500, ($24,678); fire protection fund, $65,935, ($32,653); library, $23,310, ($19,000); Municipal Retirement Fund, $12,500, ($11,500); working cash fund, $22, ($22,000).

Divorce Granted

A divorce was granted to Hattie Love, Granite City, from Louis Eldon Love, Town and Country, Ill., today by Associate Judge Fred P. Schuman in the Granite City division of circuit court. They were married April 12, 1951, at Indianapolis, Ind., and separated Aug. 15, 1965. Desertion was charged. Custody of two children was given to the mother and the father was ordered to pay $30 per week child support.

Speeding Charge Filed

Raymond E. Sparks, 2256 Benton street, was arrested at 11 a.m. Wednesday on a charge of speeding at 2900 East 23rd street. He was summoned for a hearing by Sept. 16.

Howard Bischoff, who will be married to Roger Warren Russell, a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Russell, 1848 Spring avenue. The wedding is planned for next June 3 at the Nameeki Methodist Church.

Miss Bischoff was graduated from the Granite City high school and received a diploma from Miss Hickey's School for Secretaries. She is presently employed by the Price Waterhouse Co., St. Louis.

Mr. Russell was graduated from the Granite City high school and is now attending McKendree College, Lebanon, where he is pre-ministerial student.

Homemakers Plan Food Guide Talks

"Understanding and Using a Daily Food Guide" will be discussed at all Homemakers Extension unit meetings this month by Mrs. Catherine Mauck, Home Adviser, or her assistant, Mrs. Mary Knecht.

Among the meetings in this area were those of the Trio Unit Tuesday at Hope Lutheran Church, and the Granite City Unit Wednesday at Zion General Baptist Church.

A series of Institutes for Family Living featuring clothing construction will be held at the Curran Homes in Alton from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. today and Sept. 16, 23, and Oct. 7.

The sessions will feature discussions on mending, altering garments, purchasing pattern and fabrics as well as the making of a simple dress.

The classes are to be conducted by Homemakers Extension members, including Mrs. Robert Brave of Granite City.

New Season for Rotary Ans

Taking advantage of fine autumn weather, the Rotary Ans opened the fall and winter season with an outing and picnic Tuesday at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meng near Edwardsville.

Serving on the hospitality committee with Mrs. Meng were Mrs. William Thoele, Mrs. Alfred Buis, and Mrs. Jack Kulenkamp.

The tables were decorated with arrangements of bitter sweet, and after the picnic luncheon Mrs. Thoele, club chairman, conducted a short business session during which plans were made for the winter.

Others attending the meeting were Mrs. Glenn Abernethy, Mrs. Muri Anderson, Mrs. Harvey Buis, Mrs. Gene Coe, Mrs. Homer Huber, Mrs. Carl Mathias and Misses Lauri Abernethy and Anne Balke, granddaughters of two of the club members.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 4 with Mrs. Mathias, Mrs. Coe and Mrs. Huber as hostesses.

Jaycees See Prevue Of Roca Club Show

Granite City Jaycees were treated to a pre-view dress rehearsal last night of "ROCA Returns to Broadway," a dinner-variety show which opens at 7 p.m. today in the 300 Room of the Tri-Mor Bowl. Performances will be repeated again tomorrow evening and Saturday and a Sunday matinee at 2 p.m. by the ROCA Young Men's Club.

Michael Day reported on plans for the third annual "Rike Road-E-O" to be co-sponsored by the Jaycees and the Downtown Granite City Shopping Center at 10 a.m. Sept. 24.

The event will be held on Edison avenue between 19th and 20th streets and will involve competition in two age divisions—midlets, 6-9 years, and juniors, 10-13 years.

Day said that entry blanks may be obtained at local schools, or from Downtown Shopping Center stores, starting next Thursday.

Ronald Pennell told Jaycees that an increased number of children were processed at the immunization clinic held Saturday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Resumption of school was given by the hospital authorities for the large turnout, Pennell said. He and L. Monroe Worthen were the local Jaycees assisting with the project.

Plans for a membership drive, beginning this weekend under the direction of William Herbst and Pennell, also were outlined.

Five GC Men Arrested In Fight at Tavern

Called to the Park tavern on report of a fight, East 20th street and Park avenue, at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday, Granite City police arrested five men and filed charges against three of them.

Two men were taken to St.

Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of injuries. They are Leroy Laws, 46, of 2636 Edison avenue, who was not arrested, and Shelby Wallace, 28, of 2808 Lincoln avenue, who first refused treatment.

Laws suffered a hematoma and abrasions to his face. At 2:40 a.m. today, Wallace complained of severe pains and was returned to the hospital by police and was admitted. He had a cut left ear and said he was kicked.

Charges tied were against Wallace, resisting arrest and illegal possession of a hypodermic needle and syringe; Guy Wallace, 26, of 2151 Washington avenue, resisting arrest; and Herbert Lyon, 19, of 1942 State street, resisting arrest.

The five men were held for the state's attorney's office pending investigation and further charges.

MORE ABOUT GC Steel

steelmaking with significant improvement in the chemical and physical quality of our products. We will be well ahead of the industry in rolling all our steel on a new, fully computerized hot strip mill.

"We will be the first steel plant in the United States both to make all its steel in basic oxygen furnaces and to roll all its slabs on one of the new hot strip mills."

Veeder said the company is also developing a new iron ore mine and pelletizing plant in southeast Missouri and building a third continuous galvanizing line at its Granite City Plant.

He pointed out that Granite City Steel's new basic oxygen steelmaking plant will have a rated annual capacity of 2,200,000 ingot tons which is 50% more steel than the company has ever been able to produce in one year.

The company's new 90-inch computer-controlled hot strip mill, a 105,000 H.P. giant, "will be the finest in the world, bar none, when it goes on stream in mid-1967," Veeder said.

vice-president; Mrs. Mae Lee, secretary; and Jack Cook, treasurer.

The first general meeting of the Webster school PTA will be held next Monday, Sept. 12, at 7:45 p.m. at the school.

State Police to Disseminate Severe Weather Warnings

Illinois State Police now are directly responsible for disseminating all severe weather warnings and emergency action information to county sheriff offices, according to Donovan M. Vance, Illinois civil defense director. Emergency messages and warnings will be relayed by means of the state police radio system on the frequency of 42.5mc FM, he said.

The state CD official said delegation of the operational functions of warning to the Department of Public Safety (state police division) will replace any previous methods of relaying information on severe weather watches, weather warnings and tornado alerts.

Weather and emergency alerting networks currently in use, such as the radio-communication system installed by Granite City civil defense at the local police headquarters, may be used as a back-up method. The local weather-alert transmitter is connected to Southwest Illinois Mutual Air Area headquarters, at Swansea.

Method of Relay
Under the new Illinois Warning Plan, direct information will be relayed from the U. S. Weather Bureau and North American Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., to District 9 station of the Illinois state police in Springfield. Alerts will be transmitted via NAWAS, the National Warning System, essentially an extension of the military warning and detection systems.

Vance explained that District 9 headquarters will direct the information through the NAWAS network to all state police district stations. He reported that each district station now has a NAWAS installation and by Sept. 15 also will be equipped with an "encoder" device for immediate relay of warnings to county sheriffs.

Each state police district station is, in turn, responsible for operating encoder machines, Vance said, notifying county sheriff's offices within their areas. The sheriff then is required to pass the warning on to designated officials in the county, cities and towns in his jurisdiction, as well as to persons living in unincorporated areas.

CD Responsibility
Under the Illinois civil defense preparedness plan, city officials have a direct responsibility for providing a 24-hour warning capability in their own community. All that is necessary to receive the warning message is to install a radio receiver on the 42.5mc frequency attached with a proper decoder, or attach a decoder device to an existing receiver, Vance explained.

The device automatically activates the radio receiver when an emergency transmission is made from the state police district station, he said, and enables the sheriff to switch off the decoder feature, eliminating the need for constant monitoring of state police transmissions.

The state CD director said that officials in counties, cities, towns, institutions, hospitals, industrial plants and schools will be urged to install a radio receiver equipped with a decoder turned to the state police radio channel 42.5mc.

Persons in charge at these locations can then receive severe weather alerts and information on local disasters or a national emergency and take immediate and appropriate action.

Vance warned that installation of such equipment at local levels does not relieve the county sheriff, county director, or city and town officials from their legally assigned responsibility for forwarding warnings received from the state police.

Contract Award
Examination and evaluation of encoding and decoding equipment, supplied by various manufacturers for testing at the state police laboratory, resulted in a contract for purchase of the Federal Sign and Signal Corp. devices being awarded to the Federal Sign and Signal Corp. by use of governmental agencies or others, the CD official participate in the bidding were said, in order to insure securing compatible equipment. Copies of the specifications are available from the Illinois Civil Defense Agency, 57th street and South Lake Shore drive, Chicago. Vance added that should purchasing procedures permit, receivers with decoders can be purchased directly from the manufacturer at the same price receivers are sold to the state

Four GC Girls to Aid In Symphony Campaign

Four Granite City girls will be among 22 from the Illinois area to participate in the kickoff for the campaign to be conducted by the Women's Association of the St. Louis Symphony Society. They are Betty Hamilton, Patricia Jean Barnes, Lynn Sherman and Debbie McBride. They are to meet at 11 a.m. Saturday on the East St. Louis high school lot when balloons printed "Happiness is a Season Ticket to the Symphony" will be released. Some of the balloons will contain a certificate good for a season ticket to the concert.

'Y' Junior Theater Club To Present Play Saturday

Children 10 years old and under are being invited to attend the first presentation of the YMCA Junior Theater Club from 10 to 11 a.m. Saturday at the Y. The club will present "Elizabeth and the Silver Gloves," a traditional fairy tale in three acts. There is no admission charge. The cast includes Vicki Vasiloff as Elizabeth, Elaine Noth as the stepmother, Patty Scaturro as the Fairy Godmother and James Noth as the Prince. Ken McCoid and Mike Bong will be the announcers. Dramatic readings and stories will be presented by Joan Weidner, Pam Kessler, Elaine Noth, Patty Scaturro and Mark Brandon. Stage settings for the play are under the direction of Ken McCoid. Mike Bong is in charge of publicity. Elaine and James Noth will be featured in piano solos between the acts, and Patty Scaturro will lead the audience in some exercise dance steps. The club is open to all junior high and elementary school children in the Quad-Cities. Either a single activity membership of $6.50 or a full membership is required. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Bonnie Fuller, in charge of the program, or Brian Bronsman, youth director, at the Y.

SIU-SW Campus To Enroll 5500 With New Building

The opening of a new science building this fall will enable Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Campus to accommodate upwards of 5500 students on its Southwestern campus, Registrar John Schnabel said Tuesday. Registration for fall term classes gets underway next Monday, Sept. 12, and continues through Friday. Schnabel said the student body of the Southwestern campus would be increased considerably when science and fine arts majors move into the science building from SIU-SW's Alton and East St. Louis teaching centers. But he expects that the new campus will also be able to accept many students as wish to take their classes at the new campus.

Accepts Teaching Job

George Haven, 2445, East 24th street, who was graduated last month at Illinois State University, Normal, has accepted a position teaching mathematics, science and coaching in the seventh and eighth grades at Carlock school unit V, Normal.

AIRMAN JANICE S. OSTRESH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ostresh Jr., 2034 Thirteenth street, who has been selected for training at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., as an Air Force medical service specialist. A graduate of Granite City high school, she recently completed a basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Speaker Cites Need For Graduate Students

America's universities need to recruit top students for advanced study, summer graduates of Southern Illinois University were told at Carbondale Friday night (Sept. 2).

Milton T. Edelman, associate dean of the SIU graduate school and speaker at the University's annual summer commencement, said such recruitment should be approached with the same determination as the recruitment of business executives, faculty members, athletes or coaches.

In an address prepared for delivery before more than 1000 degree candidates, Edelman said such recruiting does take place, but "more time, money and attention is needed for the task." He said studies of graduate education in the United States show that it is the large universities rather than the small liberal arts colleges which produce the greatest comparative number of graduate students—those who continue to study beyond their initial college degrees.

"This argues that exposure to the environment where graduate education flourishes, along with some knowledge of what graduate education is and what it can accomplish, is necessary if a student is to enter graduate school," he said. "Being bright and eager is not enough if the student doesn't know what chances are open to him."

Marine Pfc Takes Part In 'Operation Hastings'

Marine Pfc Richard H. Slay, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Slay, 2009 Manley avenue, is taking part in Operation Hastings with the Second Battalion, First Marine Regiment, Third Marine Division in Vietnam. The training operation accounted for nearly 900 enemy killed and another 900 estimated kills. His battalion's primary mission is to capture or destroy the enemy by weapon fire, maneuver or shock action.

Six Ways to be 'In' Told To SIU-SW Graduates

The speaker at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern's summer commencement exercises told nearly 300 graduates Saturday night six ways to be "in" without following the crowd.

Leonard Van Camp, 32-year-old director of choral activities at the local campus, said the "ins" he had in mind were: independent, inquisitive, industrious, inspiration, introspection and integrity.

"The Almighty originated the equal time concept," Van Camp said about inspiration. "If you spend one minute asking for the thing you think you want, you not allow a similar amount to wait for a reply?"

The same applies to inquisitiveness, he said. People spend so much time letting themselves be entertained by television, they are losing the ability to listen, to fasten on to what is being said.

"I hope you will always have the desire to learn which is so wonderfully evident in young children," Van Camp told the graduates.

Regarding independence, he said that some of the young people present may not like them.

Master Lock System At SIU Described

Hidden away in a small office in the basement of the home economics building of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, are three men who hold the keys to knowledge.

They are the men who service the thousands of locks in SIU's 75 permanent and 200 temporary buildings on the Carbondale campus.

The security arrangement is a complex system of locks, opened by master, sub-master and individual keys. Charles Marvin, key control supervisor said, "This is probably the largest master-keyed system of any university in America."

Two Reinhardt Boys Enlist In U. S. Army

Michael D. and Richard C. Reinhardt, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Milton G. Reinhardt of near Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, enlisted in the U.S. Army this week and reported to Fort Leonard Wood to begin eight weeks of basic training. St. James E. Maddox, local Army recruiter, announced.

The Reinhardts have lived near Edwardsville for the past four years. Both are graduates of Edwardsville high school, Michael in 1964 and Richard in 1965.

Richard selected as his guaranteed school option a 18-week school in avionic communication equipment repair. Michael selected a communication center specialist school.

Language Courses Offered Teachers At SIU-SW Campus

A variety of courses for teachers who wish to increase their professional skills in a language or in literature will be offered this fall at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Campus. The English language and literature faculty has planned a teaching schedule to begin at 4:30 p.m. during the week and on Saturday mornings to accommodate teachers, who can now earn a master of arts degree in English at the new campus.

New senior or graduate level classes include Methods of Teaching English as a Foreign Language, which will meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:20 to 8:10; a Saturday course in the relation between traditional and new English grammar; and a workshop on Problems in the Teaching of English.

Requests for class schedules should be sent to Registrar John Schnabel at the new campus. Inquiries about details of course offerings not contained in the university bulletin can be obtained from the English Office at the campus.

Real Estate Transaction Pope County 150 Yrs. Old Program for Lawyers

"Handling Illinois Real Estate Transactions," a one-day short course for lawyers, will be presented Friday at Augustine's, Belleville, by the Institute on Continuing Education of the Illinois Bar. Lawyers will be instructed on the up-to-date ways to streamline their handling of real estate transactions. Recent court decisions have emphasized the need for the services of a lawyer in real estate purchases and sales.

A distinguished faculty has been recruited, and David Bremser, East St. Louis, is the area bar representative. Richard Sterling is the moderator, area instructors are: John Farrell and Harry Marshall, Alton; Joseph Kelleher, Edwardsville, and Raymond Groble, Solomon Gustein and Samuel Sherman, all of Chicago.

Program topics will include: The lawyer's role in the Real Estate Transaction; Drafting the Contract; Tax Considerations in Buying and Selling Real Estate; Financing Real Estate Purchases; Title Examination and Insurance; and Closing the transaction.

Volunteer Aid Class At Alton State Hospital

A full orientation class for new volunteers is being formed at Alton State Hospital. It was announced this week by Mrs. Marjorie Dintelmann, volunteer supervisor.

The class will be in session Sept. 15 from 9 a.m. to noon and Sept. 22 from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Persons may register for it in the volunteer office through Sept. 14.

Mrs. Dintelmann said such training is given periodically to familiarize new volunteers with the hospital and its policies. She said the class is taught by members of the professional and administrative staff. She indicated both individual and group volunteers may attend.

The volunteer supervisor pointed out that volunteers supplement the work of the regular hospital staff. She said their activities include feeding disabled patients, assisting in handicraft and recreational projects, teaching various subjects such as art, music, sewing, creative writing, personal hygiene, and distributing books from the library. Volunteers generally work three hours a week at their convenience, she added.

Appointed by Airline

Carl D. Hart, formerly of Granite City, has been appointed as administrative assistant to the vice-president-finance of Piedmont Airlines, Winston-Salem, N. C. He is a certified public accountant and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hart, 1817 Delmar avenue.

Pope County 150 Yrs. Old

In 1866, two years hence, Illinois will celebrate the ending of 150 years of statehood.

This year, 1866, Pope county is observing the ending of its first 150 years as a county, having been made one before Illinois became a state. Since Pope's story right well illustrates the haphazard manner in which many Illinois counties came to be, a brief sketch of its development may be of interest.

Pope county, in fact all the Illinois County, has been a much claimed territory. Because DeSoto discovered the Mississippi River in 1542, Spain claiming the entire valley it drained. The French next laid claim to the land, a claim based on the explorations made by Louis Joliet and Father Marquette in 1673. They held control until 1763—80 years when, having lost in the French and Indian Wars, they yielded it to the British.

Revolutionary War

At the end of the Revolutionary War, Britain ceded the Northwest Territory to the American Colonies. Possession of it already had been won by a small armed force sent out by Virginia under the command of Col. George Rogers Clark. The fact is that Virginia had a double claim to the territory. It had been granted to the company settling Virginia by a royal charter and then the colony had seized it by armed force. Though it claimed the territory, Virginia had at no time prior to its seizure by force, attempted to settle it.

At the end of the Revolutionary War Britain ceded the territory that already had come into possession of the colonists by Clark's seizure of Kaskaskia, Cahokia, and Vincennes. After its cession to the colonies, numerous settlers began to arrive from the eastern seaboard.

In order to win approval of a new constitution all eastern colonies transferred their claims to western lands to the national government. This region lying north of the Ohio became known as the Northwest Territory.

The Ordinance of 1787 provided for the organization and government of the region. By its provisions counties were created for local government. The territory presently within Pope county

Initially Big Area

On Dec. 25, 1816, the officials did more county making and created a new county named Pope. This newly-created county included present day Pope and portions of Hardin and Massac.

On March 2, 1838 the portion of Pope lying east of Big Grand Pierre Creek was detached to form a new county of Hardin. On Jan. 30, 1840, the earlier detached portion of Pope was taken from Hardin and returned to Pope. In February 8, 1843 the legislature again "fixed" the eastern boundary of Pope by giving the land between Big Grand Pierre Creek and Pope's present eastern boundary back to Pope. That back and forth passing seems to have permanently fixed Pope's eastern line. The Massac-Pope line was settled Feb. 8, 1843. Thus, more than 26 years and seven changes after the county was created, its "permanent" present boundaries were fixed.

At the time when Pope county was created in 1816, three men were appointed to organize and activate the new county. These substantial citizens of the county were Thomas Ferguson, Robert Lacey and Benoni Lee. They held their first meeting on April 3, 1816, at the residence of Thomas Ferguson in the town of Saratavia, "seat of justice" of Pope county.

Judge, Commissioners These newly appointed judges were not judges as we think of such now. They were in much the same category as county commissioners of today. These men chose Hamlet Ferguson, who operated an Ohio River ferry at Hamletsburg, as the county's first sheriff, Samuel O'Melveny was named as justice of the peace, assessor and county treasurer. Thomas Browning became the county's first prosecuting attorney. They also appointed overseers of the poor for each township.

The newly-appointed county judges next turned their attention to the routine affairs of a new county. They authorized the operation of river ferries and established a table of charges to be made. They directed the laying out of roadways, one of the very first being from Saratavia to Co. Hamlet Ferguson's

Shawneetown. They contracted for a courthouse "24 by 26 feet of good hewn logs and shingle roof... of the specifications of how the Midwest became a settled land, Pope county that has been claimed in turn by Spain, France, Britain and the colony of Virginia before it became a part of Illinois well illustrates how our nation came

August Meter Revenue is Best Month in 10 Years

Granite City collected more parking meter fees and fines in April, 1966 when fine payments amounted to only $543, but August, during which other month since April 1956, according to a report issued this week by Comptroller Robert Stevens. The report shows the city collected $3799 in fees and $822 in fines during last month—a total of $4621. The total is exactly $100 more than collections during May $4,521 for the same period last year. August collections increased to $31,624 the total of fines and fees received by the city during the eight-month period of this year, an increase of $8767 over the $22,857 for the same period last year. Fee and fine income has been higher during 1966 than during the last several years due to a city parking meters was reported police drive to enforce parking regulations. During 1965, the city received a total of $38,629 in fines and fees, or an average of $3219 per month for the full 12-month period. This year, the total collection of $31,624 for eight months is an average of $3953 per month. Expect Sizeable Increase On this basis, total collections for all 12 months of this year would amount to $47,436 if the higher during 1966 than during the last several years due to a

Irrigation Main Reason for Water Dwindling; Seek More Efficiency

(American Institute of Biological Sciences)

Agriculture is consuming water more than seven times as fast as it did in 1900 and well over half the volume of water used is not recoverable.

While agriculture uses less water than industry, it "consumes" more. Nearly all the water used by industry, some of it polluted, is poured back into the nation's waterways. But fully 60% of the water used for irrigation—the principal agricultural water use—is either evaporated or transmitted to the atmosphere and, thus, lost.

Difficult to Treat
Further, much of the irrigation water returned to various water courses is laden with salts, other minerals and agricultural chemicals which are difficult to remove by normal waste treatment methods.

Irrigation currently uses more than 141 billion gallons of water daily, compared to only 22.2 billion gallons in 1900. By 1960, fresh water earmarked for irrigation will climb to 165.7 billion gallons a day.

Farmers withdraw for irrigation purposes four times as much water as manufacturers and almost as much as industry.

As a result, irrigation probably consumes several times as much water as all other uses combined.

The demand for irrigation is great, and so are the measurements needed to describe these demands. Instead of "gallons," the term "acre feet" is used. This is the quantity of water that will cover one acre one foot deep, or 325,000 gallons.

By the 21st century, irrigation needs will be 184.4 million acre feet—up nearly 57 million acre feet from 1967.

On the other hand, if anticipated improvements in irrigation efficiency take place, acre foot requirements of water will rise only slightly from the 1967 level to 172.5 million acre feet in the year 2000.

Crop, Climate Factors
How much water is required to raise a crop depends on the kind of crop and the climate. The most important climatic factor is the length of the growing season.

Here are some examples of how much water it takes to grow some crops, with the quantities given in inches of water necessary for the crop in an area where the growing season is about 200 days—about par for irrigated locations.

A favorable soil at the outset this year, with sugar beets need 30 inches; cotton, 25 inches; and potatoes, 20 inches.

Crash Nature of Anti-Poverty War Conceded, Attainments Described

To the Editor:

I feel that the recent editorial page feature referring to Senator Thurmond cannot go unanswered. Although I do not wish to make an issue of his isolated biases, I would like to clarify certain areas.

The senator led off by stressing the bulk of the federal employees in OEO. He pointed out that in this agency there is one supergrade employee for every 18 ordinary employees, whereas in the Defense Department the ratio is 1 to 100.

This is an unlikely comparison to be made. Let us look at the enormous size, complexity and division of services, the Defense Department obviously has the need for and has developed throughout the decades a higher ratio of middle and lower grade employees.

Along this same line, the senator also criticized the high percentages of OEO grants which go for salaries.

Mr. Thurmond should be reminded that the great bulk of anti-poverty programs takes the form of services—services which are administered and carried out by the people by professional personnel, all of whom must be paid.

This is not uncommon in any social service program, whether public or private.

From this area of concern, the Bartwell, Ga. Sun editorial then focuses upon a housing program which is pointed out to be examples of administrative irresponsibility.

OUTSTANDING PARK PROGRAM THIS SUMMER

To the Editor:

As another summer season ends, I want to commend the Granite City park board, Supt. Harold Brown and his outstanding staff.

They have made it a very pleasant summer for so many in the community. There were many very fine programs, too numerous to mention, at Wilson Park.

"Music Under the Stars" was capably conducted by Warren Simpkins and his talented volunteers. Joe Schirmer, nationally-known musician, delighted the audience at the final program.

There were softball leagues, basketball, tennis, and a recreational program under Mrs. Helen Bjorkman and her assistants. There were weekly free movies.

Last, but certainly not least, were the weekly Tuesday night trips on air-conditioned chartered buses to the Municipal Opera; 1100 persons made such trips. Mr. Brown and his capable staff were the backbone of these outings.

Mr. Brown personally boarded each bus leaving the park and wished the group a pleasant evening. We were met on the return trip by Ed Rosenberg, who checked to be sure that everyone had a way home.

Hats off to the park board,

DISLIKES 'HARD SELL'

To the Editor:

Why do people leave merchants in one town to trade at another town-out?

The merchants live in town and pay taxes. So what? The average customer lives in the town, works there and pays taxes, too.

I had the experience a few days ago of shopping for school clothes for our children. My wife and I went into a shoe store and asked for a size 2 shoe, maybe a 2B. The clerk insisted that we take a 2C, which we thought was too wide; we didn't take it.

The clerk said we were buying on selling a customer something he doesn't want. The last thing we heard was, "You may be a shoe store, but you're not a shoe store."

"Well, if you want to ruin your child's feet..."

We found a 2B at another store—the same type of shoe we wanted in the first place.

The way some clerks jump all over a customer without giving a chance to look or browse around is another thing that bothers me. I know that someone will tell me how much they have lost through shoplifting and theft.

Don't punish my name. I don't want any credit cut off.

DEWEY AVENUE RESIDENT

Missouri, Illinois Legislators Should

Let Daylight Time Become Automatic

There seems to be no doubt that state legislators will allow Illinois to go onto national daylight saving time automatically beginning next year.

In the interest of avoiding confusion and inconvenience within this metropolitan area, Quad-Cities are hopeful that Missouri legislators also will abstain from adopting a standard time bill at their 1967 session.

It will be recalled that Congress has enacted a uniform April-October "fast time" law subject to reversal only by each state assembly. Most states went longer sunlight on summer evenings, but Missouri has been on the doubtful list.

A favorable sign is that many Missouri cities adopted daylight time this summer. Even in the last major holdout, Kansas City, businessmen have gone on record as urging fast time.

A certain amount of conformity is assured by the new federal stipulation that the same time law must prevail throughout a state. But residents of fringe areas like this community have their fingers crossed, recalling the problems encountered in the 1940s when daylight time issue was being debated in each municipality.

Action Being Taken to Ease Construction Labor Shortage

An answer to the shortage of construction workers may be provided by the new apprentice and advanced training program being started in Madison county and 15 other Illinois counties.

It is to be financed by a fund established under terms of agreements reached this summer by five building trade unions and the Southern Illinois Builders Association. The contributions by contractors will be at a rate of two cents for each man-hour worked, and are expected to exceed $100,000 yearly.

Carpenter apprentice instruction already has been arranged, and similar plans are to be announced for masons, bricklayers, ironworkers, electricians and operating engineers. No doubt Southern Illinois University and school systems in this area will be glad to provide full cooperation, as they have for past programs of similar scope.

The training plan is a fine program that might well be considered by other crafts experiencing difficulty in providing sufficient manpower. And its graduates certainly should be permitted to eventually gain full membership rights within their labor organizations.

The following letter has been answered by the Department of State in Washington:

The close to one million persons who fled from North Vietnam to the South since the Communists assumed control in the North are impressive testimony to the influence of the Vietnamese people.

20 Steelworkers Will Be Delegates To Convention

Twenty delegates from the Illinois metropolitan area are planning to attend the 12th Constitutional Convention of United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, to be held in Atlantic City, Sept. 18 to 22.

The convention, held biennially, is attended by more than 3000 steelworkers from all over the United States, in addition to delegates from Canada, Puerto Rico, and other foreign countries.

The delegates planning to attend are: Robert Means, Local 4504, Downers Grove, Ill.; Elvin James, Local 4504, Downers Grove, Ill.; Jesse Rainwater, Local 1022, Granite City, Ill.

Venice Elderly Housing Project, Other New Accommodations Needed

A study of public housing for the elderly, conducted this summer by the city of Venice and the Madison County Housing Authority, may partly solve the problem faced by 60 to 70 Kerr Island families and other Venice residents in the path of the proposed Federal Aid Route 151 right-of-way.

Because of the age limit, such apartments would be only a partial answer. Interested governmental bodies and civic groups should begin accelerating their preparations to be of further assistance.

Past experience has shown that new federal low-cost housing built during displacement of families often is not used by many of those for whom it is intended. Nevertheless, the project proposed for construction at Kerr Island would at least make housing available to all of advanced age and restricted income who want to remain in their present neighborhood.

Special problems arise regarding the younger families. Fifteen years ago, when efforts were made to help Kerr Island residents find other accommodations, many found that their earnings were too high to qualify for residence in public housing.

Whether private or public developments would offer the best solution in 1967 is not yet clear. Perhaps a clearing-house, manned by volunteers, could be set up to provide information on property available for rental or purchase.

Certainly, adequate housing must be found by all whose present dwellings will be eliminated as the Great River Road progresses southward through the Quad-Cities, and right-of-way acquisition is to be started early next year.

Along with the current study of housing for senior citizens, the municipality should pursue creation of a "workable plan" through which qualifications for a variety of federal grants is attained. The first step, a Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission survey, already is underway.

Subsequent adoption and enforcement of a revised building code, and action to meet other requirements, could lead to an urban renewal program that might give an entirely new look to the western part of the Quad-Cities.

Miracle Needed if Madison Bridge Is to Be Kept Open Indefinitely

Photographs of the almost deserted Madison-owned Chain of Rocks Bridge dramatize the impact of the Labor Day weekend opening of the nearby Interstate 270 bridge.

Recently attracting 5,000 vehicles daily, the city's Mississippi River span has averaged only about 1500 a day in the last several days, records show. Tuesday night's council meeting. This is not surprising, since access routes now are much more convenient to traverse the new four-lane free bridge.

The current number of motorists using the Madison bridge would be insufficient to provide operating funds regardless of what tolls might be charged. And once tolls are reinstated, as the municipality plans upon receiving Army Department authorization, access routes now are much more convenient to traverse the new four-lane free bridge.

"Fantastic" ideas on bridge utilization are currently being studied by Judge Paul. The competition field, they had better be nothing short of fantastic, if the old two-lane structure is to be kept in operation beyond the 1966-67 fiscal year.

The Law Serves You

Will Can Reduce Probate Cost

(A public service of the Tri-City person dies without a will, one-third of the estate goes to the Illinois Bar Association.)

A carefully drawn will reduces the expenses of probate and can create a more orderly transfer of property. The State Bar Association said today in announcing publication of a pamphlet entitled "The Law Serves You."

The pamphlet outlines: "There are many provisions in the law... Just how the property will be disposed of depends on actual situations, but in all cases the law is rigid and makes no exceptions for those in unmet need or circumstances."

"The value of a will lies in the difference between planned distribution of your estate by will, or having your property distributed arbitrarily by law."

Free copies of the pamphlet on wills are available on request to: Illinois State Bar Association, Room 2360, Springfield, Ill.

"The Law Serves You" is written to inform and not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney.

Even a slight difference in the facts may change the result under the law.

Young Democrats to Give First Annual Homecoming

Madison County Young Democrats will hold their first annual homecoming Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Pontoon Beach, Afton, Ill. The program will include a speaking program by county Democratic candidates at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Concession stands operated by local organizations will be located on the homecoming grounds and a fish fry, chicken fry and barbecue will be included on the menu. Music will be furnished by The Marauders Saturday night.

Union Rogers will serve on the resolutions committee; Schwanecker on the constitutional committee.

50 YEARS AGO

Granite City Press-Record

There are 300 more students in the grades than last year. Some way will have to be devised to handle the grade pupils, who are more crowded than the students in the high school. The McKinley school has 740 pupils, whereas the Webster 1st, Washington 530 and Logan 176.

At a meeting of the city council, Mayor C. J. Washburn, Alderman Nieper of the Fifth Ward, one of a committee appointed to confer with the East Side Levee and Sanitary District board in regard to the flooded condition of the West side, reported that the sanitary board has installed pumps in the affected district and that nearly all the water has been pumped out of the various sloughs.

Four new teachers have been added to the faculty. Miss Minnie Teichman, teacher of domestic science, comes from Carbondale. She is a graduate of Southern Illinois Normal, and has been assistant in her line of work there for one summer term. Miss Teichman takes the place of Miss Cooley, who goes to the Bishop, Ariz., high school.

Gen. F. Gramer, science teacher, is a graduate of the University of Chicago. B. F. Hoffman, a graduate of the University of North Carolina, will have charge of the mathematics department in place of Mr. Parish, who will be a student at Harvard.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hasset and son, Jack, of Chicago spent a few days this week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Kelly and family of C. street.

J. A. Gardner and family, 2424 D street, returned home after a vacation at Fayetteville, Ark.

25 YEARS AGO

SEPTEMBER 8, 1941

The first fall meeting of the Lesche Library club for the 1941-42 season took place in the home of Mrs. Harry C. Brown, 1311 Twentieth street.

Mrs. C. L. Louis, the new president, opened the meeting and conducted the business of the club. Theme for the year is "Faith for Living," and roll call was answered with vacation highlights.

The program for the afternoon consisted of a review of the book, "Uncle Clem's Boy," a story of the life of the late Will Rogers, written by his widow, Mrs. Mary Blaine Rogers. Several piano numbers were given by Marion Barrow, including "Garden in the Rain" (De Bussey) and "Malaguena" (Ernest Leighton).

Mrs. C. G. Watson, who was to have taken part in the program with a travestie of her recent trip to Central America, was prevented from being present due to illness. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Brown to 14 club members.

Mrs. Edith McCastall entertained guests at a fish fry and outing at Judson Park. They were Mrs. and Mr. Fred Butts and family of Benton, Ark. Mr. and Mrs. William Reischer, Miss Edith Reischer, Miss Ann McCastall, Walter Mathis, Mr. and Mrs. Russell West and sons and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Burt.

The first dinner meeting of the club was held at the Episcopal parish house, and the program will be arranged by Mrs. Mary Mortenson and Mrs. Theresa Hughes.

Officers for the coming season were elected by the Women's Council of the First Christian Church at a monthly business meeting. Plans were made in the ladies' parlors of the church.

Mrs. Dale Arnette was re-elected president, Mrs. Shields Logsdon is the new vice-president, and Mrs. A. M. Jacob and Mrs. E. B. Nelson were named secretary and treasurer.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

BY THOMAS E. O'HARA, Chairman, Federal Reserve Board, National Association of Investment Clubs

HARD TO AVOID STOCK PURCHASE COMMISSIONS

Q. We have 500 shares in a growth mutual fund that we want to hold but we would like to invest in another fund.

We would like, if possible, to purchase it direct, without the services and commissions to the salesman, since we do not feel we are getting anything for our money. Can this be done?

A. Also, what happens if the salesman should die, or leave the investment firm entirely? A. Your salesman gets paid primarily for locating you as a customer and selling you the fund. After that, whether he continues as a salesman or not is going to have little effect on your investment.

There are several alternate ways you can make your purchase, but I suspect someone will receive a commission, no matter what procedure you use.

Dealing With Home Office. You can, for example, go directly to a stock broker and ask him to buy whatever fund you wish to own. Or, if you have already selected the fund you want, you could write directly to its home office.

You will be able to deal directly with the people there; on the other hand, they may refer you right back to a local salesman—who may or may not be the same one you are dealing with.

If your salesman should die or quit the investment fund, it will make absolutely no difference to your investment, since your relationship is really with the fund itself.

Have you a question about investing? Mr. O'Hara, editor of the monthly magazine "Investing," will be glad to answer it. Write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Department 8, Box 1055, Detroit, Mich., 48231, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Woods to Teach at Lamar State College

Miss Marcella Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Woods, 789 Old Allen road, who received her doctorate of philosophy degree recently, will assume duties as assistant professor in teaching and research at Lamar State College of Technology, Beaumont, Tex.

She received her advanced degree from Ohio State University at its summer quarter commencement. Her field of specialization is the developmental aspects of children's motor performance. For her dissertation she conducted research with children in Granite City schools.

She has authored several articles, was elected to Who's Who in American Education in 1963 and is a member of several national professional committees.

Returns from Hospital

Mrs. Gerie Lorentz, 2807 East 24th street, returned home Monday from Normandy Osteopathic Hospital in Normandy, Mo., where she was a patient for a week while undergoing tests and treatment.

A graduate of Granite City high school in 1961, Dr. Woods received the bachelor of science degree from Illinois State University with a major in physical education in 1965.

In 1959 she obtained the master education degree from the University of North Carolina, specializing in physical education and minor in physiology. Graduate studies at Ohio State included the fields of physical education and developmental psychology.

County Baptist Association Annual Meeting Planned Here

"Churches Together, Winning the World to Christ" is the theme of the annual meeting of Madison County Baptist Association Thursday and Friday, Sept. 15 and 16, in Suburban Baptist Church, 2500 St. Clair, Granite City.

Principal speaker for the two-day meeting is to be Dr. V. L. Stanfield, professor of preaching at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, who will address the gathering Thursday evening and will also bring the Friday morning, afternoon and evening messages.

Dr. Stanfield, who has written a number of religious books and articles, attended Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Northwestern and Columbia Universities, Union Theological Seminary and Oxford University.

The association has secured as guest soloist Mrs. Thomas Kirtis of Indianapolis, Ind., a member of the Speedway Baptist Church in that city and soloist in the last Christmas cantata for the Greater Indianapolis Choir.

She will sing at six sessions of the associational meeting.

The program committee report will be given at the 9:30 a.m. session Thursday morning by Rev. W. Clayton Humphrey, Second Baptist Church, and after the business session and reports from new churches the moderators message will be given by Rev. James Feaman of Edwardsville.

Rev. Eugene Phillips of Third Baptist Church will speak on "The Birth of Jesus" at 1:10 p.m. and following reports from the music, youth, Sunday school, Training Union, Woman's Missionary Union and Brotherhood chairmen, the message from the associational missionary, Rev. W. J. Richardson, "Seeking the World for Christ," will be heard.

At 7 p.m., Rev. James Doorn of Meadow Heights Church, Collinsville, will bring the annual sermon and a business session will follow during which new pastors will be introduced, officers elected and reports of the treasurer, grounds and budget committees given.

"Life and Ministry of Jesus" will be presented by Rev. Arthur Farmer of the Baptist State Office, Carbondale, at 9:40 Friday morning and after reports from publications, Christian education and stewardship committees, A.

DR. V. L. STANFIELD

MRS. THOS. KIRTIS

C. Queen of Carbondale, Ill., will talk on the World Home Bible League.

The afternoon session will convene at 1 o'clock with the "Death and Resurrection of Jesus" being the theme of a talk by Rev. Ralph Dollar of Venice Baptist Church. Mission reports and obituaries will precede the report from the Baptist Children's Home, Carmi, by Theron H. King, its superintendent.

Concluding the annual meeting will be the 7 o'clock session at which Rev. Richard Dillender of Maryville will speak on the "Second Coming of Christ." An evangelism and cooperative missions report will be heard and new officers of the association introduced preceding the closing message by Dr. Stanfield.

Eight New Homes Among 17 Permits In Two Townships

Seventeen building permits were issued during August to residents of Nameoki and Chouteau townships listing values of $154,929. It was the lowest monthly total for the year in the two townships.

Nine of the permits were issued in Nameoki township, including seven for new homes, with values of $114,900, and eight were obtained by Chouteau township residents, including one for a new home. Values totaled $39,629.

Obtaining permits for homes in Nameoki township were William R. and Sue Ellen Brinkhoff, masonite siding, $14,000; Truman Coggins, brick in Wellington Heights, $17,000; J. A. m. s. C. ## Mediator is Speaker For GC Rotary Club Operational procedures and more popular, noting that as free functions of the U. S. Mediation Service were outlined for Granite City Rotary Club members as for the manufacture of boats, during Tuesday's luncheon at the YMCA.

The speaker, guest of John Newlin of the Nestle Co. plant, was Samuel Johns of the agency's St. Louis office.

Johns pointed out that if all parties are realistic, strikes could be settled in short order. He stressed that no one wins in a strike, since the workers lose the wages, the business loses sales and the public also suffers directly or indirectly.

He added that demands for more leisure time are more and in expenses remains to be paid.

Slavery in Illinois

John W. Allen

Southern Illinois University
When the subject of slavery was mentioned most southern Illinoians think of it solely as an institution practiced in some of our more southern states. They think of it as having had its beginning when a Dutch sea captain stopped at Jamestown in 1619 and sold his cargo of slaves to planters there.

Slavery already had been practiced over the world a few thousand years. When white men came into contact with the American Indians they frequently found them holding slaves.
Slavery was nothing new.

The institution was not uncommon in Illinois when John and Marquette came down the Mississippi in 1673. In their journey down river these French explorers stopped to visit and make friends with the native tribes. They found living among them Indians who had taken in raid upon other tribes living beyond the Mississippi, in this case the Pawnee, and were mostly Indians in turn made gifts to their visitors. Among the gifts mentioned in the journals of the French is the gift of a slave
boy about ten years old.

Indians Held Slaves
Records indicate that Indians living in the Randolph-Monroe county region held numerous slaves. Most of these were captives they had taken in raids
upon other tribes living beyond
the Mississippi, in this case the Pawnee, and were mostly Indians in turn made gifts to their visitors. Among the gifts mentioned in the journals of the French is the gift of a slave
boy about ten years old.

Another source of slaves was children sold in time of famine in exchange for food. Occasionally Indians voluntarily became slaves in payment of gambling debts. Indians were invertebrate gamblers and considered a gambling debt as a rather sacred one. Those entering slavery in this manner were released when their pledged time expired. Indians sometimes traded their slaves to other Indians for goods they wanted. White men came to possess slaves in the same Indian slaves, both those taken in war and those becoming so by barter for pelts, were placed at manual labor, becoming helpers of those persons of all work, the negroes. The theme of the Indian's song, granting he had one, seems to have been—"Let the women and children do the work."

Treatment of Slaves
Captives slaves who won favor with their captors might by a process of adoption be admitted to membership in the tribe holding them. On the other hand they might be made objects of sadistic rites. Records kept by the Jesuits, a missionary order, tell us that women voluntarily becoming slaves did not thereby sell their virtue.

Most of the captives held to slavery by the Indians of Illinois were those taken in raids upon the Pawnee who lived west of the Mississippi. In fact, the local French word for slave,
"panis," was taken from the tribe so frequently raided.

Records thus indicate that slavery was a going concern when the French came to Illinois. The French simply took up the practice. Indians continued to be the source of supply for slaves. The native's temperament and training, however, did not tend to make him a desirable slave. Too much independence has resulted from the way
upon other tribes living beyond
the Mississippi, in this case the Pawnee, and were mostly Indians in turn made gifts to their visitors. Among the gifts mentioned in the journals of the French is the gift of a slave
boy about ten years old.

Over a Century
The collapse of their high hopes meant these Negro slaves were sold or traded to the French farmers. The slavery best known to most of us thus became an established and recognized practice in Illinois where it was frequently practiced for more than a century.

While the territory still was under control of the French, detailed regulations were formulated for the control of slaves and slavery. These regulations, under the published title of the "Code Noir," makes interesting reading, though it sometimes is quite shocking. They continued effective here so long as the French continued to rule Illinois.

Throughout the French occupancy and control of Illinois slavery was recognized and practiced here. When possession of the territory was surrendered to the British at the close of the French and Indian War and they came to occupy the Illinois Counties in 1765 they did little or nothing to change the practice. When the territory was ceded to the American colonies at the close of the Revolutionary War it was agreed that the French inhabitants should be allowed to retain their ancient privileges.

Shipments Through Canal Increase Over Last Year

Freight tonnage passing through the Chain of Rocks Canal during August totaled 3,743,285 tons, a slight drop below July tonnage but still the third highest monthly total of the eight-month period this year.

Last month's shipments were exceeded this year only by the July tonnage of 3,802,725. May tonnage of 3,777,066. May shipments set the all-time monthly record for canal freight shipments.

August shipments increased to 26,400,000 tons the total amount of freight passing through the canal locks during the eight months of this year, an increase of 3,000,738 tons over the total of 23,399,262 tons passing through the canal during the same period of 1965.

Records at the U. S. Army Engineers District office in St. Louis showed a total of 543 vessels passed through the locks during August for an aggregate of 1056 lockages, an increase of 92 over the 834 lockages during August last year. Craft using the canal locks included 532 towboats, 400 barges, six passenger boats, 301 private recreation boats, six government towboats, 22 government barges, one small craft and 15 patrol boats.

Lockages increased to 37,470 the number of vessels passing through the canal during the eight months of this year. This was an increase of 3553 vessels over the 33,917 that passed through the canal during the same period last year. Lockages compared to a total of 5838 at the same time last year.

Freight shipments passing up and down river during August

Included petroleum products, 437,700 tons upriver and 307,100 tons downriver; grain, 16,700 up and 1,403,100 down; coal, 685,600 up and none down; cement, sand and gravel, 2750 up and 2200 down; sulfur, 45,200 up and none down; miscellaneous commodities, 433,800 up and 31,150 down; iron and steel products, 17,450 up and 100,885 down; and chemicals, 186,500 up and 35,000 down, for totals of 1,832,750 tons of freight moving upriver through the canal, and 1,909,535 tons moving down river.

The total of 26,400,000 tons of freight that has passed through the canal so far this year represents a monthly average of 3,300,011 tons. If this level is maintained during the remaining four months of the year, total 1966 freight tonnage using the locks should approximate 39,600,000 tons, or approximately 3,000,000 tons more than last year's total which was an all-time record tonnage for any one-year period.

GC Twp. Funds Show Balances

Township business was transacted in four minutes Tuesday night by Granite City council members in their capacity as the town board of auditors.

The monthly report by Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer showed Aug. 31 balances in all three township funds, and current bills approved were $189 for town purposes and $206 for relief.

The monthly report on the town fund showed a $12,684 balance on Aug. 31, with disbursements during the month amounting to $3481. For general assistance, expenditures amounted to $2891, leaving a balance of $12,032 on Aug. 31.

In the Illinois Municipal Retirement fund, disbursements, totaled $880, and the Aug. 31 balance was $1893.

'Up with People' Show

Troupe of 150 International Students Stop Here Briefly

A group of more than 150 international college students, representing 17 different countries and 24 states, enjoyed a two-hour rest stop Tuesday afternoon, as guests of the Fun 'n' Sun management at the swim resort area, located near Mitchell.

The entourage of young people traveling by four buses, a semi-trailer truck, a second 12-1/2 ton baggage truck, plus several private automobiles, represent the 'Up With People' youth show, one of three such troupes touring the world, under the auspices of the Moral Rearmament Committee.

Enroute to the U. S. Army training center at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., from an appearance last weekend at the Indiana State Fair, the cast members, their chaperones and show directors were offered the hospitality of the resort area, including lunch by its operator, Kenneth Hartberger of Granite City.

Non-Profit Group Derive from "Slog-Out" shows, started about 13 months ago by a group of serious-minded college students in Michigan, the non-profit, underground program has now expanded to include more than 100,000 participants in local, national and international troupes.

According to one of the show's directors, Bill Stowers of Carmel Valley, Calif., those participating are guided by four moral standards of conduct—selflessness, love, honesty and purity.

"Primarily, we want to show the American people as well as the other countries that today's youth can stand-up and sing-for what is right and share the image of draft card burnings and actions by protest groups," the youthful director said. "We direct our enthusiasms through words and music, using a patriotic theme, without political inference," Stowers added.

He told the Press-Record that he had joined the movement six months ago within two days of seeing the show in California, giving up his college education to participate in the show. Stowers said that many of the participants take off a semester or two from their studies to contribute and learn, while others relinquish their summer holidays to travel with the group. Former Local Participant Miss Donna Dowditt, a local at their home in honor of the college student, recently re-event.

The cast was featured recently on coast-to-coast television and has traveled to several overseas countries for performances.

turned home after spending two months on tour with the show.

Members of the cast are non-salaried and no federal or other governmental aid is received to stage the productions, Stowers said. Production cost approximately $5000-$6000 to stage and are underwritten by the show sponsors in individual cities, military bases or at university campuses where they appear.

Actual living expenses while traveling are borne by troupe members, who frequently are assisted by generous donations from well-wishers.

Stowers said, "We greatly appreciate the hospitality offered here by the local resort owner. We encounter this type of generosity wherever our troupe travels."

Shortly before arriving in Granite City, the cast was joined by a 14-member team of champion gymnasts from Heller-of, Denmark, one of the top using to host the stage props and without any solicitation on our part presented us with a brand new, shiny trailer truck."

Stowers said that in return, the firm operators asked only for a performance for the factory workers and general public of Allentown. "We gave them two complete shows," he added.

People Open Homes

Many residents opened their homes to us when we were traveling through a community, the director said, adding that recently in Chicago, the Conrad Hilton Hotel management put up the entire group without charge. Others in charge of the troupe stopping here were Hans Magnus of Norway and Frank Fields of Santa Fe, N. M.

Emergency Crew On Duty at Wood River Power Plant

Illinois Power Co., which provides electricity to approximately one-fourth the land area of Illinois, has moved emergency crews into its four power generating plants to insure continuing service in case of a strike of union workers at the plants. One of the power plants is located at Wood River.

Under the notice served by the union, work can be stopped at any time. With no local contracts expiring, no local effect may be felt in the Quad-Cities.

The company said in a statement that "groups of engineers and other supervisory and non-union personnel have been set up to take over the vital function of continuing electric service. Similar groups have been established, and will take over in case of a strike, other operations of the company, including service of natural gas in our areas."

The company has an obligation and a responsibility to serve. This we intend to do because we consider it vital, despite any differences between our company and our union employees."

Crews moved Monday into power plants at Havana, Hennepin, Wood River and Vermilion, near Danville. At the same time, supervisory personnel was alerted to take over maintenance duties in the northern service areas of the company in which the Local 51 contract applies.

1100 Members of Local 51 has about 1100 non-members employed by Illinois Power in the four power plants and in areas around Decatur, Jacksonville, Bloomington, Danville, Champaign, Galesburg, Keosauqua and LaSalle. Southern areas of the company will continue to operate with other unions using firm contracts providing for no work stoppage.

The company said that in case of a work stoppage by the union, talks will continue, looking to an early settlement of the differences.

In the meantime, because of the company's responsibility to provide service to the public, every means will be taken to continue normal company operations, a spokesman said.

HOW TO AVOID ACCIDENTS

Safety in the kitchen is not accidental. It requires careful planning. Good work habits are basic. Here are some tips on how to stay safe in the kitchen.

To avoid falls, a prime accident hazard, wipe up all fat spots and spills as soon as they occur. Avoid excess wax. Buff the floor well following waxing.

Start with a steady stool for reaching high objects. Never trust a rickety one. If tightening all screws and bolts does not make the stool firm and steady, it's time to replace it.

Many burns, another cause of serious accidents, can be prevented. Store lifting tongs close to the cooking center. Pot-lifters for handling hot utensils should be kept close to the stove. Mitts serve well for this; just be sure they are well padded. Keep utensil handles and tea-kettle spouts turned toward the back of the stove and out of all traffic lanes where they might get upset. Tighten all utensil handles regularly. A loose handle or one that turns is a frequent cause of burns.

Cuts can be avoided by safe storage and careful use of knives and can openers. Guard against fatigue. Too much haste makes people more accident prone. Store sharp knives separately, and preferably in a holder. Use a cutting board whenever possible. Establish the good habit of cutting away from yourself. Check all electric cords, plugs and switches regularly, and repair or replace as needed.

Non-Stick Cookware

Homemakers can fully enjoy the benefits of non-stick cookware by following recommended methods of care.

The finish is a special heat-resistant plastic coating sprayed on utensils which are then baked at 750 degrees F. Some manufacturers of non-stick cookware provide directions for care. But, if none are given, the utensils should be conditioned or seasoned with an unsalted fat.

before the first use.

Wiping the surface with a paper towel soaked in salad oil will work. One exception to this rule is the angel food cake pan. The cake will cling to the sides of an ungreased coated pan as it does to a conventional cake pan.

Although grease is not required to keep food from sticking, many people prefer to use butter or other fat or oil because of the flavor they add.

To avoid marring the finish of non-stick cookware, use nylon, wood or specially coated spatulas and spoons for lifting and turning food. If food must be cut in the utensil, always use a dull-bladed knife, such as a table knife.

For regular cleaning, wash non-stick utensils in hot suds and then rinse and dry them. Never use steel wool, scouring pads or cleanser on the coating.

A few scratches don't seem to affect the non-stick quality. But, if a utensil becomes completely scratched, it may be used as a conventional pan.

Non-stick finishes may stain with continued use, and commercial cleaners are available. You may also remove stains by using this method: Mix two tablespoons of baking soda and one-half cup of liquid bleach with one cup of water. Boil this solution for five to ten minutes in the stained utensil. After treatment, thoroughly wash, rinse and dry the cookware and wipe it with salad oil before using again.

4-H Club Records

Being Judged by Group

The County Home Economics 4-H Committee has met to grade the records turned in by 4-H club members. They are choosing the best to enter in state judging for state awards to be given later in the fall.

Members of the County 4-H Committee are Mrs. Victor Drexel and Mrs. Carl Dippold, Edwardsville; Mrs. C. C. Losch, East Alton; Mrs. Dorothy Arnold, Granite City; Mrs. Owen Brendel, Troy; Mrs. Herbert Diesen, Highland and Mrs. Harlan LeBeque, Alhambra.

State Capitol NEWS

State Ranks First

Gov. Otto Kerners has announced that Illinois leads the nation in the number of pre-school children enrolled in Head Start programs for summer 1966.

Final official statistics released by the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, D. C., indicate that the Illinois has a total of 35,777 boys and girls enrolled in summer programs across the state.

Federal funds, including all adjustments in programs locally, total $5,137,569 now at work in Head Start in Illinois for the summer program.

Project Head Start, sponsored by local community action committees and other not-for-profit agencies, is a pre-school training program. Staffing the summer program are 241 volunteers, 205 professionals, and 2121 persons employed from the areas served. The children are being helped in 970 classes across the state.

Dope Still a Problem

The unlawful possession of narcotic drugs and of habit-forming drugs continues to be the chief concern of the Division of Narcotics Control of the Illinois Department of Public Safety, according to reports to Ross V. Randolph, director of the department.

In the last two months—June and July—the unlawful possession of marijuana caused the arrest of 20 persons, the largest category of cases reported in the two-month period by Joseph J. Healy, superintendent of the division.

During July the division arrested 26 persons, four less than were arrested by the Division the previous month. In the two-month period, 34 convictions were obtained for violations of the Uniform Narcotic Drug Act or the Uniform Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act, 22 in July and 12 in June.

On the brighter side of the narcotic control picture, is the report that in June and July, 97 persons were admitted for treatment to the narcotic ward of the Chicago House of Correction.

'Original' is Found
A copy of the very rare 1875 original printing of the ballad "Baby Mine" from which the music for "Illinois" the state song, was taken has been presented to the Illinois State Historical Library, according to State Historian Clyde C. Walton.

The six-page, 10-by-13 1/2 inch leaflet was a gift from Ralph G. Newman of Chicago, chairman of the Illinois Sesqui-centennial Commission.

The music for "Baby Mine" was composed by Archibald Johnston and the words were by Charles Mackay. The Historical Library copy has an 1874 as well as an 1875 copyright date on it, Walton said.

The words for the original "Illinois" were written in the early 1890s by Charles H. Chamberlain, a Civil War veteran, for his friend Col. Oscar B. Knight, who sang it in stage appearances throughout the state and in Washington and other cities, Walton said.

Chamberlain's words and Johnston's "Baby Mine" music were adopted as the official Illinois state song in 1925. The legislative bill was introduced by Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer of Bloomington, daughter of former Gov. Joseph Fifer and first woman elected to the state senate.

Gov. Otto Kerners has announced that Clarence Klassen, technical secretary of the Illinois Sanitary Water Board, has been selected by Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall as a member on the study team on water pollution control for the United States-German Cooperative Program in Natural Resources and Environmental Pollution Control.

A study tour of Germany is planned for this U. S. Water Pollution Control Team early in September following its participation in the International Conference on Water Pollution Control Research in Munich.

The eight-man U. S. team will be made up from representatives of industry and university, federal, state and interstate agencies. Klassen will be the state government representative.

President Lyndon B. Johnson recommended the formation of such a team to study mutual problems in natural resources, environmental pollution and to exchange personnel, information and technology as a part of the total U. S.-German cooperative effort.

The German team plans to visit the United States early in 1967 to study environmental control programs in this country.

Mrs. Ray L. Edwards Gets Masters Degree

Mrs. Ray L. Edwards, a second grade teacher at Niedringhaus school, has just received her Master of Science in Education degree with a concentration in Guidance from Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Campus at the summer commencement exercises. She earned her Bachelor of Science degree and a Librarianship from Washington University.

Mrs. Edwards, who lives with her husband and son at 3024 Iowa street, was honored this week at a family dinner party given by her aunt, Miss Ann Novotny, at Novotny Brothers Farm near Jerseyville.

The German team plans to visit the United States early in 1967 to study environmental control programs in this country.
